

THE POLITICAL ECONOMY OF PROPERTY RIGHTS

Institutional change and credibility in the reform of centrally planned economies

Edited by

DAVID L. WEIMER

University of Rochester

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

---

	List of figures and tables	page ix
	List of contributors	xi
	Series editors' preface	xiii
	Preface	xv
1	The political economy of property rights David L. Weimer	1
2	Credible commitment and property rights: The role of strategic interaction between political and economic actors Daniel Diermeier, Joel M. Ericson, Timothy Frye, and Steven Lewis	20
	The political commitment to markets and marketization Barry R. Weingast	43
3	Political determinants of the success of economic transition Nikolai Mikhailov	50
	Comment on "Political Determinants of the Success of Economic Transition" Adam Przeworski	80
4	Russian privatization and the limits of credible commitment Timothy Frye	84
	Three issues of credible commitment and Russian privatization John M. Litwack	109
5	Legislative politics and the political economy of property rights in post-communist Russia Brendan Kiernan and Francis X. Bell	113
	Commitment, coordination, and the demise of the post-communist parliament in Russia Steven S. Smith	139

Contents

6	Private firms, city government, and arbitration: Enforcing economic legality in St. Petersburg Joel M. Ericson Comment on "Private Firms, City Government, and Arbitration" Anthony Jones	150   179
7	Property rights and institutional change in the Czech and Slovak republics Mariusz Mark Dobek Comment on "Property Rights and Institutional Change in the Czech and Slovak Republics" Sharon Wolchik	182   205
8	Institutional structures, labor interests, and evolving privatization bargains in Poland Lorene Allio Comment on "Institutional Structures, Labor Interests, and Evolving Privatization Bargains in Poland" Bartłomiej Kaminski	208   232
9	Privatization as institutional change in Hungary László Urbán Comment on "Privatization as Institutional Change in Hungary" Kálmán Mizsei	239   256
10	Marketization and government credibility in Shanghai: Federalist and local corporatist explanations Steven Lewis Federalist and local corporatist theories: A comment on an empirical test Victor Nee	259   288
11	Learning about the economy: Property rights and the collapse of the East German industrial economy Hannes Wittig Misinformation, insecure property rights, and the collapse of the East German economy Susanne Lohmann	294   314
12	Post-communist privatization as a test of theories of institutional change Lorene Allio, Mariusz Mark Dobek, Nikolai Mikhailov, and David L. Weimer Explaining the complexity of institutional change Jack Knight and Douglass C. North	319   349
	Indexes	355