

East Germany's Economic Development since Unification

Domestic and Global Aspects

Edited by

Jens Hölscher

DAAD Senior Research Fellow in Economics

Institute for German Studies

University of Birmingham

and

Anja Hochberg

Lecturer in Economics

European Business Management School

University of Wales Swansea

Contents

List of Tables	vii
List of Figures	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
Notes on the Contributors	x
Introduction	xiii
I THE GERMAN ECONOMY AND THE NEW LÄNDER	1
1 From Miracle to Crisis? The German Economy at the End of the Twentieth Century Karl-Heinz Paqué	3
2 The 'German Model' in Decline Jens Hölscher and Johannes Stephan	20
3 Economic Policy for the New German Länder: Supply-Side Economics Needed Michael Hüther	37
II MICROECONOMIC PROBLEMS AND PRIVATISATION	51
4 The Eastern Länder as a Transition Economy Michael Kaser	53
5 Determinants of Entrepreneurial Success in East Germany Marc Herzog	79
6 Private Property and the Transformation Process Wolfram Waldner	92
III NEW INSTITUTIONS AND ECONOMIC POLICY	107
7 Problems of the Welfare State and the New German Länder James Coop and Rudi Vis	109
8 The Institutional Architecture of an Alliance for Jobs Jens Bastian	120

9	Catching Up with the West: The Achievements and Limitations of Creative Destruction Thomas Lange and Geoff Pugh	141
10	Economic Aspects of German Unification: Lessons for European Integration Eric Owen Smith	166
11	Lessons from German Unification for European Integration? A Conceptual Approach Anja Hochberg	185
	Name Index	199
	Subject Index	202