

Music criticism in nineteenth-century France

La Revue et Gazette musicale de Paris, 1834–80

---

Katharine Ellis

*Royal Holloway
University of London*

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	page xi
List of abbreviations	xiii
Introduction	1
1 Crosscurrents in early nineteenth-century criticism	8
2 The rise of the specialist press from 1827	33
3 Early music	56
4 The Austro-German tradition I: The reception of Gluck, Haydn and Mozart	77
5 The Austro-German tradition II: The reception of Beethoven	101
6 The Austro-German tradition III: Weber, Schubert and Mendelssohn	127
7 Contemporary music I: Piano music	142
8 Contemporary music II: Chamber and symphonic music	160
9 Contemporary music III: Opera	184
10 Contemporary music IV: The music of the future	206
11 Contemporary music V: Berlioz	219
12 Conclusion	235
Appendices
1 Principal contributors to the Gazette	243
2 Personalia	255
3 Contes, nouvelles, dialogues and other short literature in Schlesinger's Gazette musicale, 1834–46	262

x Contents

4 Publishing history of the Gazette	266
5 Pseudonyms and attributions	271
Bibliography	274
Index of musical works cited	285
General index	291