

---

CREATING ORDER

THE IMAGE OF THE HOMESTEAD IN MPONDO SOCIAL LIFE

---

HEINZ KUCKERTZ

CONTENTS

---

Acknowledgements
Foreword	9
Introduction	13
Chapter 1: The Mthwa chiefdom in Mpondo history	27
Chapter 2: The capital village, Caguba, and its socio-geographical setting	39
Chapter 3: The institutional field of authority and its political implications	63
Chapter 4: Interaction processes by means of the court system	111
Chapter 5: Institutionalized forms of the family and their socio-economic implications	155
Chapter 6: Interaction processes: socio-economic co-operation based on the homestead	179
Chapter 7: The ancestor religion of Mthwa society	227

Chapter 8: The homestead – symbol of the world	271
Postscript	295
Appendix	297
Bibliography	299
Index	307
List of figures

LIST OF MAPS

Map 1: Mthweni	32
Map 2: The scattered settlement pattern of the past	40
Map 3: Capital village, Caguba	44
Map 4: Ludume ward: mat association in 1979	47
Map 5: The mat leader's court and the spatial distribution of the members of the mat association involved in the case	128
Map 6: Ludume ward: typical case of residence and of settling out	174
Map 7: Ludume ward: typical case of an invited work party ( ilima )	202

LIST OF PLATES

Frontispiece: The homestead in which the author lived during periods of his research.

The following plates appear in the given sequence between pages 156 and 157.

Plate 1: The author with his host family during the second and third period of research.

Plate 2: The homestead head leads the agnatic leader (also the village headman) to his homestead.

Plate 3: An assembly (imbuzo) at the chief's home.

Plate 4: Mpondo woman in typical attire: white blanket, head cloth of a married woman, head ring, and little horn of hair above the face.

Plate 5: Young girl with necklace made from ubulungu cow, one of the three forms of ritual materia.

Plate 6: An afflicted person performs the dance and song of contrition.

Plate 7: The ideal aspect and structure of the homestead seen from the cattle byre. The four main rafters and the horizontal cross in their centre are the markings for the ceremonial order of seating. The short pole pointing downward indicates the fireplace – the abode of the ancestors.

Plate 8: The ceremonial order of sitting in concentric circles.

- Plate 9: The ritual victim is thrown down on its right side: it would be a bad omen if the animal fell on its left side.
- Plate 10: A work party hoeing weeds between the maize. At social functions men and women congregate according to sex, but when working they mix freely.
- Plate 11: Friendly drinking (intselo) at the village headman's home.