

Petroleum Resources and Development

Economic, Legal and Policy Issues for Developing Countries

Edited by Kameel I.F. Khan

Belhaven Press, London and New York

Contents

List of Contributors	vii
Introduction	x
Part I: Overview and present trends
1 The world petroleum market: the current situation and prospects Peter R. Odell	3
2 The role of non-OPEC developing countries in world crude oil supply David Robinson	18
3 Investment policies in the international petroleum industry: responses to the current crisis Thomas Walde	30
Part II: Financing petroleum development
4 The public international sector and petroleum development in the Third World Hasan S. Zakariya	61
Part III: Elements of a petroleum development policy
5 Political risk and the erosion of control: the case of the oil industry Fariborz Ghadar	83
6 Promoting petroleum exploration and development: issues for government action S.K. Date-Bah and Makbul Rahim	93
7 Government-company relations after the contract: reconciling objectives and strategies for long-term relations Peter D. Cameron	110
Part IV: Financial and taxation issues in petroleum development
8 Economic considerations in the taxation of petroleum operations Alexander G. Kemp	121
9 Analysis of profitability and risk Hans DuMoulin	146
10 Profitability and risk in Third World petroleum: the host government perspective Raymond F. Mikesell	157
11 Risk bearing and contract design: are stable contracts feasible? Charles R. Blitzer, Panos E. Cavoulacos and James L. Paddock	172

Part V: State participation

- 12 National oil companies: form, structures, accountability and control
Kameel I.F. Khan 185
- 13 The government as entrepreneur: with special reference to the United Kingdom
R.J.P. Ross 197

Part VI: Integration of the petroleum industry into the national economy, the transfer of technology and petroleum development patterns

- 14 Economic linkages of the petroleum sector with the rest of the economy: implications for energy policy
P.J.G. Pearson 207
- 15 Technology renting or the transfer of technology: issues and options for developing countries
Jean-Marie Chevalier 221
- 16 The impact of new OPEC downstream operations on oil industry structure
Fariborz Ghadar 232
- 17 Self-reliant petroleum development: the China model
David Fridley and Gaye Christoffersen 246
- 18 Trials and tribulations of Third World petroleum development: lessons and advice for prospective producers
Harry G. Broadman and Ernest J. Wilson III 262
- Index 275