

THE CONSERVATIVES' ECONOMIC POLICY

Grahame Thompson

CROOM HELM

London • Sydney • Dover, New Hampshire

CONTENTS

List of Tables and Figures Acknowledgements

1.	INTRODUCTION	1
2.	THE 'MEDIUM TERM FINANCIAL STRATEGY' AND MACRO-ECONOMIC REGULATION	10
	Introduction	10
	The Money Supply and the PSBR	11
	Controlling the Money Supply and the PSBR	15
	The MTFs: An Assessment	22
	Conclusions	34
	Appendix: The UK and the EEC Budget Problem	36
3.	THE EXCHANGE RATE, MARKETS AND UNCERTAINTY	44
	Introduction	44
	The Exchange Rate and Future Markets	45
	The LDC Debt Problems	54
	The Role of Rational Expectations and Markets	62
	Leave it to the Market	68
	Developments in the Capital Markets	71
	Conclusions	73
	Appendix: Rational Expectations: A More Formal Exposition	75
4.	THE SUPPLY-SIDE WITHIN A MACRO-FRAMEWORK	81
	Introduction	81

Contents

The Supply-Side Position - An Initial Specification	82
Theoretical Arguments Around the Supply- Side Position	84
A Macro-Economic Framework for Supply- Side Adjustments	89
A Problem of Incentives	96
Conclusions	100
Appendix: Constructing the Aggregate Supply Function	102
5. TRADE AND COMPETITION POLICY	109
Introduction	109
Trade Policy in the International Arena	110
Competition Policy in the Domestic Arena	120
'Privatizing' the Social Services and the National Health Service	125
The Trade Unions	134
Conclusions	137
6. TAXATION AND PERSONAL INCENTIVES	141
Introduction	141
Taxation and the Household Sector	142
The UK 'Laffer Curve'?	156
A 'Negative' Income Tax?	160
Conclusions	164
7. INDUSTRIAL POLICY AND DE-NATIONALIZATION	169
Introduction	169
What has happened to Public Support for Industry	170
The 1984 Budget - Its Rationale	175
The New Technology	185
Other Industrial Sectors	191
De-nationalization	195
Other Discretionary Support	202
Employment Support	203
Conclusions	206
8. CONCLUSIONS	211
POSTSCRIPT	216
INDEX	221