

Joachim Warmbold

Germania in Africa

Germany's Colonial Literature

PETER LANG

New York • Bern • Frankfurt am Main • Paris

TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION . . . . .	1
A. THE ACQUISITION AND LOSS OF GERMAN COLONIES IN LITERARY PERSPECTIVE
Chronological Demarcation . . . . .	9
I. Antecedents of German Colonial Literature
1. Africa's Route to Europe . . . . .	13
2. "Noble Savages" and "Ennobled Slaves" . . . . .	19
3. Light in the Dark of Africa . . . . .	27
4. The Beginnings in Germany
a) The German Tardiness . . . . .	31
b) Heinrich Smidt's Berlin und West-Afrika . . . . .	38
II. German Colonial Literature During the Period of the German "Protectorate" in Africa
1. Frieda Baroness von Bülow . . . . .	49
a) Biographical Background . . . . .	50
b) German East Africa in Gartenlaube Dress . . . . .	58
2. Breakthrough to Success: Peter Moors Fahrt nach Südwest (Peter Moor's Journey to Southwest Africa) by Gustav Frenssen
a) Background . . . . .	67
b) The Work . . . . .	72
c) Consequences . . . . .	83
3. The Importance of Colonial Societies and Organizations in the Dissemination of Colonial Literature . . . . .	89
III. Colonial Literature in the Post Colonial Era
1. The Loss of the "Protectorates" from the Viewpoint of the Losers . . . . .	97
2. Hans Grimm's Der Ölsucher von Duala (The Oil Prospector of Duala) . . . . .	105
3. All For the Greater Glory of the Third Reich . . . . .	121
4. Outlook into the Present . . . . .	131

B. COLONIAL THEMES AND THEIR TREATMENT
I. General Survey . . . . .	141
II. Nation Without Territory. The Struggle for Territorial Expansion . . . . .	149
III. Colony and Homeland. Old Homeland, New Homeland - German Homeland . . . . .	157
IV. Teutons on African Outposts. The Colonial Germans. . . . .	165
V. In The Land of Promise. Everyday Colonial German Life . . . . .	173
VI. About Soil and Life. The Drawbacks of Colonial German Life . . . . .	181
VII. Of Old Blood And Appalling Abandonment. The Problem of "Kaffirization" . . . . .	189
VIII. When Will the Germans at Long Last Return? The Colonial German Myth. . . . .	199
IX. . . . and in Back of Him Stood a Negro. Africans in German Colonial Literature . . . . .	207
C. Concluding Remarks . . . . .	219
D. Notes . . . . .	221
E. Bibliography of Works Cited . . . . .	255
APPENDIX: Selected Bibliography on German Colonial Literature . . . . .	263
INDEX . . . . .	289
PHOTOGRAPHS . . . . .	297