I. THE PROBLEM: SOVIET 'ASSIMILATION' OF WESTERN TECHNOLOGY. MODEL AND METHODOLOGY	1
The Problem	1
Assimilation of Foreign Technology	1
Soviet Assimilation of Western Technology	2
Studies of Technology Assimilation	4
The Aim	10
The Suggested Model of Analysis	11
Steps in the Assimilation Process	16
Explaining 'Assimilation Step' Performance	22
Repercussions: Demand for Accomodation and International Adaptation	27
Summary	29
This Study	31
Methodology	32
II. THE CONTEXT: SOVIET TECHNOLOGY GOALS, THE MEANS OF ACHIEVING THEM, AND WESTERN COUNTERMEASURES	37
Soviet Policies	39
The Soviet Organization of Acquisitions	51
Institutions	54
Import Methodologies	59
Military Acquisitions	65
International Technology Trade Restraints:
US and CoCom Embargoes	68
CoCom Export Controls	69
US Export Controls	71
Conclusion	76
III. SOVIET IMPORTS OF WESTERN 'COMPLETE TECHNOLOGIES'	79
Choice to Import Western Technology	82
Choice of Plant Imports: Policies	87
Plant End-Use	90
Policies	90
Actual Choice	94
Western Plant Suppliers	98
Conclusion	103
IV. THE SWEDISH CASE: SUPPLY OF TECHNOLOGY TO THE USSR	106
Background	108
Machinery and Equipment Trade	116
Plant Transfers	117
Industrial and Scientific Cooperation	119
Soviet Policies	126
Conclusion	127

V. SOVIET ASSIMILATION AS EXPERIENCED BY SWEDISH CORPORATIONS	129
Choice	133
Marketing	135
Negotiations	136
Incorporation	140
Delivery and Installation	141
Utilization	144
Diffusion	149
Replication	151
Modernization	154
Conclusion	155
VI. COMPARING ASSIMILATION EXPERIENCES	159
Variable Definitions	160
Choice Decision-Making	166
Incorporation	171
Installation Lead-Times	171
Capacity Achievement	173
Quality of Output	174
Addendum: Closing the Technology Gap?	176
Diffusion	179
Conclusion	181
VII. RECONSIDERING THE FRAMEWORK: SOVIET ACCOMODATION AND ADAPTATION BETWEEN NATIONS	184
Soviet Accomodation	185
Soviet Industrial Goods Market Policies	186
Perestroika of Soviet Foreign Trade	188
Organization	191
Soviet Military Production and Assimilation	199
Swedish Adaptation to Regime Changes	200
Embodied Technology Transfers	203
Military Technologies	205
Embargo Implications for Swedish Business	207
Swedish Government Responses	207
Conclusion	209
VIII. SUMMARY AND CASE STUDY CONCLUSIONS	212
The Framework of Analysis	212
The Suggested Model	213
Findings: Soviet Assimilation of Western Technology	216
