

57
1179

THE PRESIDENT,
THE CONGRESS,
AND
THE MAKING OF FOREIGN POLICY

★ ★ ★

Edited by Paul E. Peterson

9

University of Oklahoma Press : Norman and London

★ ★ ★
CONTENTS
★ ★ ★

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	ix
Preface	xi

Part I. The International and Constitutional Context

Chapter One.	The International System and Foreign Policy Paul E. Peterson	3
Chapter Two.	Judicial Enhancement of Executive Power Gordon Silverstein	23

Part II. Presidential Advisers and Congressional Committees

Chapter Three.	Playing Hardball with the CIA Loch K. Johnson	49
Chapter Four.	Questioning by the Foreign Policy Committees Paul E. Peterson and Jay P. Greene	74

Part III. Presidential Influence on the Chamber Floor

Chapter Five.	Presidential Support in the House of Representatives David W. Rohde	101
Chapter Six.	Congressional Party Leaders Steven S. Smith	129

Part IV. The Policy Arenas

Chapter Seven.	Budgeting for Defense Ralph G. Carter	161
Chapter Eight.	Searching for Arms Control Alton Frye	179
Chapter Nine.	Disagreeing on Latin America Robert A. Pastor	204
Chapter Ten.	Delegating Trade Policy I. M. Destler	228
Notes		247
References		267
The Contributors		281
Index		283