

Göran Johansson

More Blessed to Give

A Pentecostal Mission to Bolivia in Anthropological Perspective

Stockholm Studies in Social Anthropology
1992

Contents

Abbreviations	vii
Mission map	viii
Foreword	ix
Acknowledgements	x

Introduction	1
Pentecostalism - a commitment system	5
The ideal model	7
Outline	10

Part I: Movement Dynamics 15

1. The Commitment System	17
Free choice and commitment	17
Consensus and self-fulfilment	23
Mutual metanoia and a new social order	27
Communitas and hierarchy	33
The ageing system and the concept of sin	36
The problem summed up	43

Part II: My Position 47

2. Mission and Anthropology	49
3. Study and Approach	57
My approach	68

Part III: The Mission 73

4. Pioneers and "Bolivia-farers"	75
Pioneers in Bolivia	76
The "Bolivia-farers"	78
5. Swedish Free Mission in Bolivia	83
Agreements	84
No mission, only missionaries	86
The shattered mission station	87
Villa Montes	88
Calle Uruguay	91
Quillacollo	93
Valle Alto	95
Tarija	97
The Catholic mission	98
The Brazilian Pentecostal mission	100

6. Evangelizing 103

Searching for a generative form 113; Conversion and the first-time-visitor 115; Scaffolding 119; Interethnic worship and spiritual community 123; Leadership crisis 127; Mixed couples 130; Teaching spirituality 132

7. Social Work 137

Inauguration 138; Schools 140; Children's home 142; Boarding hostel 142; Setting and socialization 143; Mission and development 146; Evaluation and mission 150

Part IV:

Dispositions and Tendencies 155

8. Calling and Organization 157

The calling 158; Holiness and efficiency 165; Mission and institution 169; Training missionaries 172

9. The Blessed Giving 175

The blessed giving 177; The difficult giving 179; Mission and the poor 184; The not so blessed receiving 188; Native criticism 193; The transfer 196; Blessed mutuality 199

10. The "Being At-Home" 201

Stranger at home 203; Romance rule 207; Separate renewal 210; Double life 213

Afterword 217

Notes 227

Bibliography 239

Index 250