

Urban Growth and Housing Policy in Algeria

A case study of a migrant community in the city of Constantine

RABAH BOUDEBABA

Avebury

Aldershot · Brookfield USA · Hong Kong · Singapore · Sydney

Contents

List of tables	viii
List of figures	xi
List of maps	xii
Acknowledgements	xiii

PART ONE

1 Introduction	3
1 The research problem and the contents of the book	3
2 The specific background to the research problem	9
3 Sources of data and research methods	17
4 Methods and techniques of investigation	22
2 Review of general background literature	35
1 Introduction	35
2 Studies of migration and migrants	36
3 Studies of urbanization and the urban process	40
4 Urbanization in the Middle East and North Africa	45
5 Urban housing, squatters and upgrading schemes	60

3	The political economy of development in Algeria	67
1	Introduction	67
2	Algerian society and the colonial system	69
3	State capitalism and development after Independence	72
4	The Algerian development model and the emergence of industrial poles	76
5	Land distribution and the limits of agrarian reform	83

PART TWO

4	The city of Constantine	95
1	The history of the city	95
2	The geographical setting and its implications for urban development	102
3	The nature and growth of the city's population	105
4	Ecological patterns and the growth of gourbivilles	112
5	The housing problem and housing policy	117
6	Gourbiville dwellings and the housing crisis	125

PART THREE

5	A profile of the Transitional Settlement of El-Bir and its inhabitants	137
1	The background to the establishment of the Transitional Settlement	137
2	The Transitional Settlements of El-Bir and Polygone	140
3	The layout, amenities and living conditions of the El-Bir Settlement	141
4	Residents' socio-economic and cultural backgrounds	144
5	Family structure	159
6	Appendices	165
6	Life in the Transitional Settlement	177
1	Daily routines and the way of life	177
2	The gatherings of men	181
3	The social life of settlement housewives	184
4	The life of boys and young men	189
5	Children playing and going to school	194

6	Religious life	198
7	The settlement's living conditions and ways of household adaptation	205
8	Appendix	209
7	The settlement residents and the outside world	217
1	Differentiation and antagonism	217
2	Attitudes and opinions in regard to public institutions and law and order	227
8	Residents' perceptions of their present residential status and their future expectations	237
1	Residents' perceptions of their position in the Transitional Settlement	237
2	Analysis of preferences regarding alternatives to the Transitional Settlement	240
3	Evaluation of the proposed plans for rehousing members of the Transitional Settlement	244
4	An examination of the significance of the residents' views of the rehousing plans	246
9	Conclusion	251

APPENDICES

Appendix I:	Schedule for structured interviews	261
Appendix II:	Sources of data	271
Appendix III:	Scenes of housing types and conditions in the city of Constantine	277
Bibliography		287