

MONK, HOUSEHOLDER, AND TANTRIC PRIEST

Newar Buddhism and its hierarchy of ritual

DAVID N. GELLNER

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of illustrations	page	xiv
List of tables		xvi
Preface		xix
Note on pronunciation and abbreviations		xxiii
1 Introduction		1
1.1 Aims and methods		1
1.2 Historical background and contemporary context		8
1.3 The setting of the study		22
Appendix 1 A method of transliterating Newari		35
Appendix 2 The calendar		39
2 Caste and religious affiliation		41
2.1 Newar castes		41
2.2 Śivamārgī and buddhamārgī , Hindu and Buddhist		52
2.3 The Śreṣṭhas between Buddhism and Hinduism		55
2.4 Buddhist religious identity		57
x 2.5 Some differences between Hinduism and Buddhism		60
x 2.6 Caste identities and the problem of names		63
2.7 The determinants of religious identity		68
3 The relation of Hinduism and Buddhism: competition and coexistence		73
r 3.1 The structure of the Newar pantheon		73
h 3.2 The multivalency of symbols		80
3.3 Hinduism dominating Buddhism		83
3.4 Examples of Buddhist predominance		87
3.5 Buddhism and Hinduism 'in harmony'		88

3.6	Buddhist myth and iconography which attempt to subordinate Hinduism	94
3.7	Conceptualizing the relation between Buddhism and Hinduism	98
4	Basic notions of Newar Buddhism	105
4.1	A religion of worship	105
4.2	The Three Ways of Buddhism and what they mean for Newars	108
4.3	A survey of religious concepts	114
4.3.1	Dharma, pāp, and karma	116
4.3.2	Dān	119
× 4.3.3	Non-violence, intentions, and animal sacrifice	124
4.3.4	Tyaḥ and ma tyaḥ	126
Δ 4.3.5	Auspiciousness, inauspiciousness, and protection from misfortune	126
4.3.6	Bodhisattva	128
4.3.7	Siddha, siddhi	129
4.3.8	Gods	129
4.3.9	Śakti	130
4.3.10	Taray juye, nirvāṇa	131
4.3.11	The six 'destinations' or rebirths	132
4.4	The hierarchy of interpretations	132
5	Basic rituals of Newar Buddhism	135
5.1	Sociological definitions	135
5.1.1	A sociological typology of ritual and ritual action	135
5.1.2	An analysis of religious roles	139
5.2	Religious and liturgical typologies of ritual and ritual action	142
5.2.1	A Newar Buddhist typology	142
5.2.2	A local Hindu typology	144
5.2.3	A Tibetan Tantric Buddhist typology	145
5.2.4	A typology of ritual acts	146
5.3	Basic rituals of Newar Buddhism	148
	Appendix: Some verses used in Newar Buddhist ritual	160

6	The Disciples' Way: the monastic ideal in Newar Buddhism	162.
6.1	Śākyas and Vajrācāryas as hereditary monks	162
6.2	Ritual in the monastery: Kwā Bāhāḥ as an example	167
6.3	The cult of Dīpaṅkara: Śākyas and Vajrācāryas as the recipients of alms	180
	Appendix: Some important alms- or gift-receiving verses	187
7	The Great Way (Part I): the Buddhist householder, his duties and religion	189
7.1	Merit-making through local pilgrimage	189
7.2	Buddhism and life-cycle rites	197
7.3	Buddhist death rituals	204
7.4	Buddhism and calendrical festivals	213
7.5	The religious Observance (vrata): asceticism for the laity	220
	Appendix: The Wedding Dialogue	228
8	The Great Way (Part II): guthis	231
8.1	Basic principles of the guthi	231
8.2	Types and examples of guthis	235
8.2.1	Economic guthis	236
8.2.2	Public utility guthis	236
8.2.3	Caste council guthis	237
8.2.4	Lineage Deity guthis	238
8.2.5	Guthis for the worship of a particular deity	243
8.2.6	Death guthis	246
8.3	The Buddhist monastery as a guthi ; guthis and Buddhism	248
9	The Diamond Way (Part I): priesthood and initiation	251
9.1	Two types of Vajrayāna, the exoteric and the esoteric	251
9.2	Vajrācāryas as a status-group	258
9.3	Entering the Diamond Way: Tantric Initiation and the Consecration of a Vajra-Master	266
9.3.1	Preliminaries to Tantric Initiation	273
9.3.2	Day 4: The rite of nailing down	274
9.3.3	Day 5: Preliminary Empowerment of the mandala	274
9.3.4	Day 6: Establishment of the mandala and preparation of the pupils	275
9.3.5	Day 7: Heroic Conduct	275

9.3.6	Day 8: Rite of the Main Flower	278
9.3.7	Day 9: Raising the mandala	279
9.3.8	Day 10: Consigning the powder	279
9.3.9	Remarks on the symbolism of Tantric Initiation	280
10	The Diamond Way (Part II): the regular cult	282
10.1	The cult of Tantric deities	282
10.2	Basic principles of Tantric worship	287
10.3	The hierarchy of symbols	292
10.4	The routinization of Tantric Buddhism	297
10.5	Routinization, 'intentional' language, and food symbolism	300
	Appendix: details of a Tantric worship in 1982	305
11	The uses of Tantra	307
11.1	Tantra, social closure, and types of power	307
11.2	The place of Tantra in Buddhism and Hinduism compared	317
11.3	Theravāda Buddhism and Tantrism	321
11.4	Tantrism, healers, mediums, and witches	328
11.5	The decline of Tantric Buddhism	332
12	Social and religious hierarchies	337
	Notes	347
	Bibliographies	381
	Works in Newari and Nepali	381
	Works in other languages	383
	Index	399