

The Trouble with the Congo

Local Violence and the Failure of International Peacebuilding

SÉVERINE AUTESSERRE

Barnard College, Columbia University

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	page xii
Glossary of Acronyms, Names, and Ethnic Terms	xiii
Preface and Acknowledgments	xvii
1 The Peacebuilding World	1
The Puzzle of Poor Strategies	5
Main Argument	10
Understanding Peacebuilding Failures	14
Conventional Explanations	14
The Inadequacy of Conventional Explanations	16
Understanding How Culture Shapes Action on the Ground	23
Methodology	31
Overview of the Book	37
2 A Top-Down Problem	41
From the Top, Down: A Story	42
The Dominant Framework of Analysis	42
Brief Historical Context	47
National Tensions	54
Regional Combat	59
Illegal Exploitation of Natural Resources	62
A “Postconflict” Environment	65
In the Eastern Provinces, a Hobbesian World	68
The Missing Leviathan	69
“Local” Means “Criminal”	72
An Inherently Violent Country	74
Conclusion	81
3 A Top-Down Solution	84
Three Shared Understandings	86
An Impossible Mission	86

A Top-Down Approach	91
A “Postconflict” Intervention	100
The Intervention Tools	102
The Election Fetish	103
Working “in Constant Crisis Mode”	114
Beyond Crises: The Standard, Macro Approach	120
Conclusion	125
4 A Bottom-Up Story	126
Importance of Local Conflict in Modern Congolese History	129
Attaining Local Citizenship: Power, Land, and Ethnicity
Before the Wars of the 1990s	129
Local Antagonisms and Violence: What the War Changed	142
Local Patterns of Violence During the Transition	151
Social, Political, and Economic Agendas	151
A Closer Look: Local Dimensions of the Rwandan Hutu
Militias’ Presence	156
Understanding the Joint Production of Violence during the Transition	158
North Kivu: Master Cleavages and Local Alliances	159
South Kivu: Progressively Autonomous Local Agendas	165
North Katanga: Uncontrolled Militias Rejecting
National Control	170
Ituri: The Primacy of Land	173
Conclusion: The Need for Local Peacebuilding Programs	176
5 The Defeat of Bottom-Up Solutions	179
A Potential Local Conflict-Resolution Strategy	181
Contestation and Opportunities for Change	187
The Limited Attempts of Nongovernmental Organizations	188
Fleeting Scheme by MONUC	193
Rare Initiatives by Diplomatic Missions	203
The Standard Approach of Other International
Organizations	205
The Ituri Case	207
Understanding the Exceptions	209
Organizational Subcultures	209
Shocking Events and Increased Intervention	213
Understanding Failures	216

The Defeat of Contestation	216
The Limited Impact of Shocking Events	219
Constructing Constraints	220
Bureaucratic Structures and Available Expertise	221
Congoese Sovereignty	222
Mandate “Constraints”	224
Contextual “Constraints”	225
A Vicious Circle	227
Conclusion	229
6 Beyond the Congo	231
Why Did the International Intervention Fail to Help the Congo Build Peace and Democracy?	232
The Intervention’s Meager Results	232
Was the International Intervention Truly a Failure?	235
The Drawbacks of the Electoral Tool	239
Toward a New Understanding of Peacebuilding Failures	243
Beyond the Congo, Beyond Africa	247
Achieving Peacebuilding Success: The Need for Bottom-Up Approaches	248
Top-Down Understanding, Local “Criminality,” and the Normality of Widespread Violence	252
Top-Down Understanding of the Interveners’ Role	255
Vicious Circles and Shocking Events	259
Policy Recommendations	261
Facilitate Cultural Change	262
Develop Expertise and Bureaucratic Structures for Local Peacebuilding	263
Work through Local Actors Whenever Possible; Intervene Directly if Necessary	264
Conceive of Local Peacebuilding as a Part of the Broader Task of Peace- and State-Building	269
Consider a New Approach to Postconflict Intervention	270
Conclusion: Transforming the Peacebuilding World	271
Appendix – Chronology	273
Bibliography	279
Index	303