

Gerald E. Poyo

“With All, and for the Good of All”

The Emergence of Popular Nationalism in the Cuban Communities of the United States, 1848–1898

Duke University Press, Durham and London 1989

Contents

Acknowledgments xi

Preface xiii

- 1 Origins of Cuban Émigré Nationalism 1
1848–1868
- 2 Émigré Annexationism 20
During the Ten Years War
- 3 The Émigré Nationalist Movement 35
During the Ten Years War
- 4 Consolidation of the Nationalist Ideal 52
The 1880s
- 5 Class, Race, and the Nationalist Movement 76
1870–1890
- 6 Popular Nationalism: The Insurrectionary Catalyst 95
1890–1895
- 7 The Road to Compromised Sovereignty 112
1895–1898

Epilogue 126

Notes 139

Bibliography 161

Index 177