

Martin Buber and the Eternal

Maurice Friedman, Ph.D.

Professor of Philosophy, Religious Studies, and Comparative Literature,
San Diego State University

 HUMAN SCIENCES PRESS, INC.
72 FIFTH AVENUE
NEW YORK, N.Y. 10011

Contents

Preface	11
1. Dialogue and the “Eternal Thou”	15
Religion and Philosophy	16
Human Truth and Religious Symbols	18
2. Biblical Existentialism: Creation, Revelation, Redemption	21
Judaism as the Source for Buber’s Philosophy	21
The Biblical Emuna	22
Creation Is the Road	25
Distance and Relation	26
Revelation and the Thou	27
I-Thou Knowing and I-It Knowledge	28
Turning and Redemption	31
Sacramental Existence	34
Messianism and Trust	35
People and Community	37
Buber’s Challenge to Jewish Philosophy	38
3. Revelation and Reason	40
Reason and the I-Thou	41
Revelation and the “Between”	44
Ronald Hepburn’s Critique of the I-Thou	45
Revelation and the Life of Dialogue	48

4. Religion and Ethics	51
The Source of Buber's Ethics	51
Buber's Definition of Ethics	53
Buber's Philosophical Anthropology	55
Responsibility and Conscience	56
The Ground of Ethical Decision	57
Where Buber's Philosophical Anthropology and Philosophy of Religion Meet	61
Buber on the Kierkegaardian "Suspension of the Ethical"	65
5. Existential Guilt, Existential Trust, and the Eternal Thou	68
Buber on Heraclitus and the Eastern Mystics	68
Existential Guilt	71
The Three Spheres of Reconciliation	73
The Self Is Not Its Own Goal	75
Responsibility and Relationship	76
The Interaction of I-Thou and I-It	80
Trust in Existence	82
The Link between Ethics and Philosophy of Religion	84
Greek versus Biblical Ethics	86
6. The Comparative and the Unique: An Approach to the History of Religion	88
Dialogue and the Unique	88
Trust and Faith, Devotio versus Gnosis	90
Hasidism and Zen	94
The Incomparable and the Kingship of God	95
Reciprocity of Leader and Led	97
The Comparative and the Unique	99
7. Dialogue with Oriental Religions	102
Buber, Herzl, and Tagore	102
Buber and the Mystical	105

Mystical Experience and Mystical Philosophy	107
Buber's Affinity with Taoism	108
The Live Encounter	110
The Action of the Whole Being	112
A Reality that Works in the Depths of History	114
The Free Person versus the Self- Willed Person	115
The Wordless Depths	117
The Buddha	117
Hasidism and Zen: Mysticisms of the Particular	120
The Contrast between Hasidism and Zen	122
Analysis and Reality	126
Zen Scholars and Buber	127
The Meaning of Kavana	128
To Be Humanly Holy	130
The Way to Do Is to Be	132
8. Religious Education as Dialogue	135
True Religious Communication	136
The Religious Symbol and the Lived Event	139
The Task of the Modern Educator	139
9. Existential Trust and the Eclipse of God	147
Mystical Inwardness and the Life of Dialogue	147
In A Time of God's Hiddenness	148
The Loss of Trust in God	152
Gnosis and Jung	153
Heidegger and the Historic Hour	154
The Human Responsibility for the Eclipse	156
The Silence of God	157
The Renewal of Trust	159
Appendix: Dialectical Faith versus Dialogical Trust: Response to

10 • MARTIN BUBER AND THE ETERNAL

Hopper's "Eclipse of God and Existential Mistrust"

165

Reference Notes

177

Index

187