

VISIONS of the MODERN CITY

Essays in History,
Art, and Literature

Edited by

William
Sharpe
and Leonard
Wallock

1987
The Johns Hopkins
University Press

Baltimore / London

Contents

Editors' Note to the 1987 Edition	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
From "Great Town" to "Nonplace Urban Realm": Reading the Modern City William Sharpe and Leonard Wallock	1
The Nature of Urbanization Eric E. Lampard	51
Dickens and the City Philip Collins	101
The Social Explorer as Anthropologist: Victorian Travellers among the Urban Poor Deborah Epstein Nord	122
Manet and the Paris of Haussmann and Baudelaire Theodore Reff	135
Painters of Modern Life: Baudelaire and the Impressionists Michele Hannoosh	168
Culture and Architecture: Some Aesthetic Tensions in the Shaping of Modern New York City Thomas Bender and William R. Taylor	189
Tokyo and the Borders of Modern Japanese Fiction Paul Anderer	220
Reading the Illegible: Some Modern Representations of Urban Experience Steven Marcus	232
Contributors	257
Index	261