

ENVOY TO MOSCOW

Memoirs of an Israeli Ambassador
1988–92

ARYEH LEVIN

FRANK CASS
LONDON

Contents

List of Illustrations	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
Foreword	xv
Preface	xvii
Part I: Into the Breach
1 Preparations	1
2 Reconnaissance to Confrontation	12
3 Moscow–Zagorsk–Leningrad	23
4 Access through Research	33
5 An Introduction to Shevardnadze	47
6 The Thaw Begins	62
7 Jewish Culture Reinstated	72
8 A Duologue in Cairo	81
9 A Dutch Consulate at the Israeli Embassy	91
10 Visitors and Natives	103
11 A Turn of the Tide	131

12	An Endemic Disease	154
13	Emigration to Immigration	167
Part II: From Consulate to Embassy
14	High Stakes: Jewish Magnates and Middle East Peace	185
15	Aunt Sonya	199
16	The Curtain Falls — Halfway	208
17	Agony and Death of the Regime	216
18	For Purely Humanitarian Reasons	234
19	We Raise the Flag	242
20	Still No Ordinary Days	259
21	A General, Then a Coup	281
22	The Death of Friends	300
23	The Embassy Opens	313
24	Heirs of the Empire	330
25	From Bukhara to Ararat	348
26	Winding Up	378
	Postscriptum	397
	Glossary	401
	Index	403