

American political parties

The formation, decline and reform of the American party system

Dean McSweeney and John Zvesper

London and New York

Contents

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Figures and tables                                   | viii      |
| Preface  | xi        |
| 1 Introduction: the debate over party in America     | 1  |
| The novelty and questionableness of party systems    | 3         |
| The range of attitudes towards partisanship          | 4         |
| Parties and the original intentions of the founders  | 6         |
| Party coalitions and rhetoric in a large republic    | 9         |
| 2 Party policies and interests                       | 13 |
| The first party system (1790s-1820s)                 | 14        |
| The second party system (1820s-1850s)                | 18        |
| The Civil War party system (1850s-1890s)             | 21        |
| The system of 1896 (1890s-1930s)                     | 26        |
| The New Deal party system (1930s-1960s)              | 29        |
| A sixth party system? (1960s-1980s)                  | 34        |
| Conclusion   | 37        |
| 3 Party development                                  | 38 |
| The first parties and the Constitution               | 38        |
| The mature party system                              | 45        |
| The decline and reform of the mature party system    | 52        |
| Conclusion   | 56        |
| 4 Party realignment                                  | 58 |
| The American one-party system                        | 59        |
| Critical and uncritical elections                    | 61        |
| The essence of critical realignments                 | 63        |
| Critical realignment: social or political?           | 65        |
| Institutional barriers to critical realignment       | 69        |
| Party reformism as a barrier to critical realignment | 74        |
| Conclusion   | 77        |

|          |   |     |
|----------|---|-----|
| 5 | A two-party system                             | 78  |
|          | The major party duopoly                        | 78  |
|          | Causes of two partyism                         | 82  |
|          | One partyism in the states                     | 92  |
|          | Third parties in presidential elections        | 93  |
|          | The effects of a two-party system              | 96  |
|          | Conclusion                                     | 98  |
| 6 | Party organization                             | 99  |
|          | Characteristics of American party organization | 99  |
|          | Formal party structures                        | 105 |
|          | Local parties                                  | 106 |
|          | Varieties of party organization                | 107 |
|          | Machines                                       | 108 |
|          | Amateur clubs                                  | 111 |
|          | Cadre caucuses                                 | 112 |
|          | State parties                                  | 113 |
|          | National parties                               | 114 |
|          | Conclusion                                     | 118 |
| 7 | Party in elections                             | 119 |
|          | Recruitment                                    | 120 |
|          | Nominations in the states                      | 121 |
|          | Presidential nominations                       | 125 |
|          | The impact of the primary                      | 129 |
|          | Financing campaigns                            | 132 |
|          | The campaign                                   | 137 |
|          | Conclusion                                     | 141 |
| 8 | Party and voters                               | 142 |
|          | Party identification                           | 142 |
|          | Electoral participation                        | 145 |
|          | Voting   | 150 |
|          | Social bases of party support                  | 154 |
|          | Electoral College coalitions                   | 159 |
|          | Conclusion                                     | 159 |
| 9 | Party in government                            | 161 |
|          | Obstacles to party government                  | 161 |
|          | Parties in the federal government              | 166 |
|          | Parties and state government                   | 174 |
|          | Realignment and party government               | 177 |
|          | Conclusion                                     | 178 |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| 10 The decline of party                   | 180 |
| Party decline                             | 180 |
| Sources of change                         | 184 |
| Weighing the sources of change            | 190 |
| Persistence and renewal                   | 194 |
| Conclusion                                | 198 |
| 11 Conclusion: looking to the future      | 199 |
| The death of the party system?            | 199 |
| The limited call for limited reform       | 200 |
| Financial reforms                         | 201 |
| The use and abuse of television           | 204 |
| Further reforms of presidential selection | 205 |
| Deregulation                              | 208 |
| Realignment issues and party coalitions   | 210 |
| Conclusion                                | 214 |
| References                                | 216 |
| Index                                     | 229 |