
Women and survival in Mexican cities

Perspectives on gender, labour markets and low-income households

Sylvia Chant

Manchester University Press

Manchester and New York

Distributed exclusively in the USA and Canada by St. Martin's Press

Contents

List of figures	vi
List of tables	vii
Preface	x
Glossary	xiv
Abbreviations	xvii
1 Introduction: 'sisters of the shaking earth'	1
2 Economic development in Mexico: comparative perspectives on three intermediate cities – Puerto Vallarta, León and Querétaro	31
3 Gender and local labour demand	66
4 Gender and local labour supply	109
5 Women's employment and household structure	143
6 Economic crisis, women's work and household change: the case of Querétaro	179
7 Women's employment and household survival strategies	199
8 Conclusion	221
Appendix 1 Household Survey	231
Appendix 2 Employer Survey	241
Bibliography	245
Index	264

Tables

1.1	Key hypotheses of study: links between local economy, female labour force participation, household structure and household welfare	26
3.1a	Firms included in Employer Survey, Puerto Vallarta, showing total numbers employed, percentage of women in the workforce and sex of personnel manager	67
3.1b	Firms included in Employer Survey, León, showing total numbers employed, percentage of women in the workforce and sex of personnel manager	68
3.1c	Firms included in Employer Survey, Querétaro, showing total numbers employed, percentage of women in the workforce and sex of personnel manager	69
3.2	Firms in Employer Survey in Puerto Vallarta, showing average frequency of advertising for workers and personnel department's perception of staff turnover	71
3.3	Firms in Employer Survey in Puerto Vallarta, showing main modes of advertising staff vacancies at worker level	73
3.4	Firms in Employer Survey in Puerto Vallarta: preferred age and marital status of male and female workers at time of entry	75
3.5	Selected legal minimum weekly wages for hotel staff in Puerto Vallarta, January–June 1986	77
3.6	León: weekly per capita production of footwear according to size of firm	84
3.7	Firms in Employer Survey in León showing average frequency of advertising for workers and personnel department's/manager's perception of staff turnover	85
3.8	Firms in Employer Survey in León showing main modes of advertising staff vacancies at worker level	86
3.9	Women's employment in footwear production in León according to size of firm	86

3.10	Firms in Employer Survey in León: preferred age and marital status of male and female workers at time of entry	91
3.11	Firms in Employer Survey in Querétaro showing average frequency of advertising for workers and personnel department's perception of staff turnover	94
3.12	Assembly-line workers according to sex and rank in a large-scale refrigerator manufacturing plant in Querétaro	95
3.13	Firms in Employer Survey in Querétaro showing main modes of advertising staff vacancies at worker level	96
3.14	Firms in Employer Survey in Querétaro: preferred age and marital status of male and female workers at time of entry	97
3.15a	Firms in Employer Survey in Puerto Vallarta, showing personnel manager's perception of sex of workers with higher degree of turnover	100
3.15b	Firms in Employer Survey in León, showing personnel manager's perception of sex of workers with higher degree of turnover	100
3.15c	Firms in Employer Survey in Querétaro, showing personnel manager's perception of sex of workers with higher degree of turnover	101
3.16	Personnel managers' perceptions of the positive and negative attributes of male and female workers in the three study cities	103
4.1	General characteristics of the study settlements	111
4.2	Breakdown of household types in interview sample by city and settlement	112
4.3	Mean age of women according to activity and sex of household head	124
4.4	Average age of women according to level of education	125
4.5	Women's activity and educational levels	126
4.6	Mean household size, number of workers and dependency ratios according to women's activity	128
4.7	Women's labour force participation and per capita household earnings	130
4.8	Women's employment in the study cities	136
4.9	Percentage of women-headed households in the study cities	137
4.10	Family types in household interview sample by city	137
4.11	Households selected for 1986 survey in Querétaro according to structure in 1982-3 and change by 1986	138
4.12	Household structure and women's labour force participation	139
5.1	Household structures in sub-sample (1986)	144
5.2	Women's labour force participation and household structure in the sub-sample	145
5.3	Women in nuclear households in the sub-sample: some basic characteristics	161
6.1	Actual changes in household structure in Querétaro 1982-3 to 1986	182

6.2	Household size in Querétaro between 1982-3 and 1986 according to household structure	191
6.3	Numbers of workers and dependency ratios in Querétaro according to household structure 1982-3 to 1986	192
6.4	Mean per capita earnings in Querétaro according to household structure 1982-3 to 1986	193
7.1	Average contributions to weekly household income according to household structure in the study cities	204
7.2	Per capita earnings and income according to female labour force participation and household structure	205
7.3	Control of routine housekeeping budget by family structure	206
7.4	Principal advantages and disadvantages of work as perceived by women in the study cities	208