

Petroleum and Structural Change in a Developing Country:

Peter O. Olayiwola

PRAEGER

New York
Westport, Connecticut
London

Contents

PREFACE	vii
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	ix
TABLES	xv
FIGURES	xvii
MAP OF NIGERIA	xviii
Chapter
1 GROWTH WITHOUT CHANGE: THE CASE OF NIGERIA	1
Introduction	1
The Role of Trade and Capital Accumulation in the Development of Nations	5
Nigeria and the Structure of Underdevelopment	8
Methodology	11
Outline of Chapters	14
Notes	15
2 THE NEOCLASSICAL DEVELOPMENT PARADIGM AND NIGERIAN DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY	17
Introduction	17
Classical Insights	17
Revised Classicism	20
Neoclassical Insights	21
Resurgent Neoclassical-International Trade Theory	23
Stage Theories	25
Balanced and Unbalanced Growth	27
Summary	31
3 CRITICAL DEVELOPMENT THEORY AND NIGERIAN DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY	33
Introduction	33
Keynesian Development Planning	33
Harrod-Domar Dynamic Growth Models	35
Social Development: A Critique of the Classical and Neoclassical Views	37
Third World Development Theory	42

Conclusion	50
Note	50
4 DEVELOPMENT PLANNING IN NIGERIA	52
Introduction	52
The Attractiveness of Development Planning	52
National Planning in the World Economic Systems	55
Summary	59
Notes	59
5 THE DRIVE TO INDEPENDENCE, 1860–1960	61
Introduction	61
Nigeria Today: A Prisoner of Her Past	61
The Drive to Independence	63
The Sociopolitical Legacy of Colonialism	67
The Economic Legacy of Colonialism	69
Petroleum in the Colonial Economy of Nigeria	78
The General Economy by 1960	80
Summary	82
6 PERIOD OF TRANSITION, 1960–70	83
Introduction	83
Post-Colonial Political Transition	83
The Civil War and the Rise of the Military	86
Political Independence and Economic Dependence:
The Colonial Economy of Post-Colonial Nigeria	89
The First Post-Colonial National Development Plan	95
Summary: Ten Years After Independence	99
Notes	100
7 PERIOD OF OIL BOOM AND BUST, 1971–85	102
Introduction	102
OPEC and Economic Nationalism	102
Petroleum and the General Economy	105
The Gowon Regime: 1970–75	112
The Murtala Mohammed/Olusegun Obasanjo
Regime: July 1975–October 1979	118
The Shagari Regime: October 1979–December 1983	126
The Buhari Regime: January 1984–August 1985	129
Summary	131
Notes	134

8 A CRITICAL ANALYSIS OF NIGERIA'S COSTLY PROGRESS	136
Introduction	136
The Development Crisis in Nigeria	137
The Role of Nationalism in the Nigerian Economy	140
Development Planning in Nigeria	142
Other Internal Factors Affecting Nigeria's Development	148
World Markets and Development in Nigeria	151
Critical Development Theory and the Issue of Structural Change	153
Summary	159
9 BREAKING THE CONDITION OF UNDERDEVELOPMENT	160
Introduction	160
Recommendations for Achieving Economic Self-Reliance	161
Sociopolitical Recommendations	165
Recommendations for National Planning	169
Lesson for Nigeria and OPEC: The Life Cycle of Petroleum as an Export Commodity	171
Conclusion	176
SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY	177
INDEX	199
ABOUT THE AUTHOR	207