

ABORIGINAL

Self-Determination

THE WHITEMAN'S DREAM

GARY JOHNS

FOREWORD BY BESS NUNGARRAYI PRICE

connorcourt
PUBLISHING

Table of Contents

Author's Dedication	1
Foreword	3
Dedication	5
Introduction	15
1 Competing strategies in Aboriginal advancement	39
Integration	41
Self-determination	44
The strategies compared	50
Costs and benefits of self-determination	62
Exit strategy	67
2 Identity at any price	75
From race to identity	76
Aboriginal programs fuel identity	82
Governance obsession	86
3 Defensibility of Aboriginal culture	99
Explanations of violence in Aboriginal society	104
Traditional violence	110
Culture inhibits adjustment	118
Folly recognising law and custom	124

4 Inquiries into white morality	131
Royal Commission into Aboriginal Deaths in Custody (1991)	132
Hindmarsh Island Royal Commission (1995)	141
Separation of ATSI Children from Their Families (1997)	148
Cubillo and Gunner (2000)	154
Rudd Government Apology (2008)	162
5 Inquiries into black morality	165
Five Inquiries into Aboriginal violence and sexual abuse:
Robertson - Queensland (1999)	166
Gordon - Western Australia (2002)	170
Ella-Duncan - New South Wales (2006)	175
Wild and Anderson - Northern Territory (2007)	179
Mullighan - South Australia (2008)	188
New directions despite the Inquiries	192
6 Pretend economy	205
Promise of land rights	209
Iconic land rights battles	218
NT Land Rights Act mining veto	223
Cape York Wild Rivers	230
Community Development Employment Projects	237
7 Real economy	249
Back to the mission	253
No job, no house	262
Using culture in education	289
Conclusion	301
Bibliography	303
Index	315