

LOVE
IN THE
TIME
OF AIDS

INEQUALITY, GENDER,
AND RIGHTS IN SOUTH AFRICA

MARK HUNTER

Indiana University Press
Bloomington and Indianapolis

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
A Note on Racial Terms	xiii
List of Acronyms	xv
1 Gender and AIDS in an Unequal World	1
2 Mandeni: “The AIDS Capital of KwaZulu-Natal”	19
PART 1 REVISITING INTIMACY AND APARTHEID
3 Providing Love: Male Migration and Building a Rural Home	35
4 Urban Respectability: Sundumbili Township, 1964–94	60
5 Shacks in the Cracks of Apartheid: Industrial Women and the Changing Political Economy and Geography of Intimacy	84
PART 2 INTIMACY AFTER DEMOCRACY, 1994–
6 Postcolonial Geographies: Being “Left Behind” in the New South Africa	105
7 Independent Women: Rights amid Wrongs, and Men’s Broken Promises	130
8 Failing Men: Modern Masculinities amid Unemployment	155
9 All You Need Is Love? The Materiality of Everyday Sex and Love	178
PART 3 INTERVENTIONS
10 The Politics of Gender, Intimacy, and AIDS	205
Glossary	227
Notes	231
Bibliography	267
Index	293