

THE OLD AND NEW WORLD ROMANTICISM OF WASHINGTON IRVING

Edited by

STANLEY BRODWIN

With an Introduction by William L. Hedges

Prepared under the auspices of Hofstra University

Greenwood Press

New York • Westport, Connecticut • London

Contents

1. Introduction William L. Hedges	1
Part I Washington Irving as Romantic: The Issue Joined	11
2. Washington Irving as a Purveyor of Old and New World Romanticism Ralph M. Aderman	13
3. Washington Irving: The Growth of a Romantic Writer Joy S. Kasson	27
4. Washington Irving as an American Romantic Jeffrey Rubin-Dorsky	35
Part II Imagination and the Fantastic	49
5. Washington Irving and the Denial of the Fantastic Peter Christensen	51
6. Washington Irving and the Romance of Travel: Is There an Itinerary in Tales of a Traveller ? Judith G. Haig	61
7. Reevaluating Scott: Washington Irving's "Abbotsford" William Owen	69
Part III Romance, Illusion, and Craftsmanship	79
8. Pushkin's Creative Assimilation of Zhukovsky and Irving Michael R. Katz	81

9. Irving, Chateaubriand, and the Historical Romance of Granada John Frey	91
10. The Charm of a Golden Past: Iberia in the Writings of Washington Irving and Antonio Gonçalves Dias Loretta Sharon Wyatt	105
11. Washington Irving's Tales of the Alhambra and Early Photography in Spain Lee Fontanella	113
12. The Romantic Lie: Irving's "A Tour on the Prairies" and Stendhal's Promenades dans Rome John Joseph	127
13. A Quaint, Picturesque Little Pile: Architecture and the Past in Washington Irving David R. Anderson	139
 Part IV An Afterthought	 151
14. The Knickerbocker History as Knickerbocker's "History" William L. Hedges	153
Program of Conference	167
Index	187
About the Contributors	193