

Ancient Readers and their Scriptures

Engaging the Hebrew Bible in Early Judaism and Christianity

Edited by

Garrick V. Allen
John Anthony Dunne

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Contents

Contributors VII

Preface IX

Garrick V. Allen and John Anthony Dunne

- 1 Reading the Hebrew Bible in Jewish and Christian Antiquity X
William A. Tooman

PART 1

Reading Scripture in the Second Temple Period

- 2 What Did Ben Sira's Bible and Desk Look Like? 3
Lindsey Arielle Askin
- 3 Creation as the Liturgical Nexus of the Blessings and Curses in 4QBerakhot 27
Mika S. Pajunen
- 4 The Qumran Library and the Shadow it Casts on the Wall of the Cave 40
Jonathan D.H. Norton

PART 2

The New Testament and Practices of Reading and Reusing Jewish Scripture

- 5 Exegetical Methods in the New Testament and "Rewritten Bible": A
Comparative Analysis 77
Susan E. Docherty
- 6 Scriptural Quotations in the Jesus Tradition and Early Christianity:
Textual History and Theology 98
Martin Karrer

- 7 The Return of the Shepherd: Zechariah 13:7–14:6 as an Interpretive Framework for Mark 13 128
Paul Sloan
- 8 The Hybrid Isaiah Quotation in Luke 4:18–19 159
Joseph M. Lear

PART 3

Reading Scripture in Rabbinic Judaism

- 9 A Single, Huge, Aramaic Spoken Heretic: Sequences of Adam's Creation in Early Rabbinic Literature 175
Willem Smelik
- 10 The Variant Reading וְלִי / אֱלֹהֵי of Psalm 139:16 in Rabbinic Literature 209
Dagmar Börner-Klein
- 11 Jewish and Christian Exegetical Controversy in Late Antiquity: The Case of Psalm 22 and the Esther Narrative 222
Abraham Jacob Berkovitz

PART 4

Reading Retrospective

- 12 What does 'Reading' have to do with it? Ancient Engagement with Jewish Scripture 243
Garrick V. Allen and John Anthony Dunne

Bibliography	253
Index of Ancient Sources	291
Index of Subjects	305
Index of Modern Authors	311