

SECURING EUROPE'S FUTURE

A Research Volume from
The Center for Science and International Affairs
Harvard University

Edited by
Stephen J. Flanagan and Fen Osler Hampson

CROOM HELM
London & Sydney

AUBURN HOUSE PUBLISHING COMPANY
Dover, Massachusetts

CONTENTS

Foreword

Andrew Pierre

Preface

1. Introduction: The Changing Elements of European Security
Stephen J. Flanagan and Fen Osler Hampson 1

Part One: Military Dimensions

2. European Nuclear Security: Beyond Current Dilemmas
Jay Kosminsky 7
3. SDI's Implications for Europe: Strategy, Politics and Technology
Ivo H. Daalder and Lynn Page Whittaker 34
4. Emerging Technologies and the Security of Western Europe
John A. Burgess 64
5. NATO's Conventional Defense Choices in the 1980s
Stephen J. Flanagan 85

Part Two: Political Dimensions

6. The German Search for Security
Jeffrey Boutwell 113
7. Reassurance, Consensus and Controversy: The Domestic Dilemmas of European Defense
Philip A. G. Sabin 137
8. The Potential Contributions of Arms Control
John Borawski 163
9. Is There an Alternative to NATO?
Fen Osler Hampson 191

Part Three: Neglected Dimensions

10. European Economic Security Boyce Greer	221
11. Armed Neutrality: Its Application and Future Wolfgang Danspeckgruber	242
12. Regional Security and the Out-of-Area Problem Charles A. Kupchan	280
13. Conclusion: Managing the Trans-Atlantic Partnership Fen Osler Hampson and Stephen J. Flanagan	302
List of Contributors	319
Index	325