

A series of seven vertical black lines of varying heights, positioned behind the title text.

Shifting Ground

Spanish Civil War Exile Literature

Michael Ugarte

Duke University Press Durham and London 1989

Contents

Preface ix

I The Unknown Quantity of Exile

Introduction 3

1 Spain and Other Cases 8

2 Issues and Patterns of Exile Literature 17

3 Three Paragons of Exile in the Twentieth Century:
Thomas Mann, Bertolt Brecht, Vladimir Nabokov 31

II Writing the Lives of Spanish Exiles

4 The Intellectual Diaspora of the Civil War 55

5 Literature of Testimony 69

6 Exilic Autobiographies 82

7 A Novelistic Autobiography or an Autobiographical
Novel? 97

III The Politics of Exile: Max Aub

8 A Labyrinth of Exile 113

9 Two Exilic Biographies 132

10 The Blind Chicken 143

IV The Poetics of Exile: Luis Cernuda

- 11 Cernuda's Text of Texts 155
12 Exilic Reality and Desire 167

V Self-Exile: Juan Goytisolo

- 13 Exilic Signs of Identity 191
14 Exile as Nomad 204
15 Crossings 226

Notes 231

Bibliography 242

Index 253