

SANDER L. GILMAN

THE CASE OF SIGMUND
FREUD

MEDICINE AND IDENTITY
AT THE FIN DE SIÈCLE

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY PRESS
BALTIMORE AND LONDON

CONTENTS

PREFACE	xi
INTRODUCTION: ON MEDICINE AND RACE	1
The Covert Meaning of Race	1
Freud as a Jewish Physician-Scientist	6
1 • PSYCHOANALYSIS, RACE, AND IDENTITY	11
The Anthropological Construction of the Jew and the Meaning of Disease	11
The Jews' Diseases	20
The Cultural Construction of Jewish Difference and the Discourse on Disease	26
Representing the Jewish Body in the Literary Culture	38
The Gaze of the Jew	42
Jews in the Medicine of Nineteenth-Century Vienna	64
2 • CONVERSION, CIRCUMCISION, AND DISCOURSE	69
Conversion as a Biological Act	69
Conversion as Madness	79
Jewish Converts	84
Penises and Noses	93
Language and the Classical World	106
3 • THE DEGENERATE FOOT AND THE SEARCH FOR OEDIPUS	113
The History of the Jewish Foot	113
Freud's Footwork	130
Freud's Autopsy of Gradiva's Foot	141
Degeneration	157

4 • SEDUCTION, PARRICIDE, AND CRIME	169
Jews and Criminal Sexual Activity	169
The Statistical Arguments about Incest	179
Mixed Marriages: No Answer to Incest	186
Freud, Incest, and Blood	197
CONCLUSION: THE LIFE OF A MYTH	216
NOTES	227
INDEX	289