

The European Community in the 1990s

Economics, Politics, Defense

Edited by
Brian Nelson, David Roberts, and Walter Veit

BERG

New York / Oxford

Distributed exclusively in the U.S. and Canada by
St. Martin's Press, New York

1992

Contents

Preface	vii
Introduction	ix
Brian Nelson and David Roberts
Part I The Politics of Integration
1. Toward a Federal Europe	3
Jacqueline Dutheil de la Rochère
2. Who Legislates? Institutional Developments in the European Community and the Single European Act	17
Philomena Murray
3. Basic Questions of European Integration	29
Werner Weidenfeld
4. European Integration and the German Question: Drawing a Line Under History	38
Wolf D. Gruner
5. Germany: Locomotive for European Integration or Pacemaker for Detente with Eastern Europe?	62
Christian Hacke
Part II Economics, Education, Science
6. Toward a New European Regime of Capital Accumulation?	83
Stuart Rosewarne
7. Multinational Companies and the European Community	106
Daniel Van Den Bulcke

Contents

8. Changes in EC Budgetary Funding Heather Field	124
9. Europe 1992: The Organization of Production and the Challenges to the Educational and Training Systems Corrado Paracone	142
10. Is Science Going European? A German Perspective Martin L. Mruck	149
Part III Foreign Policy and Defense
11. EC-Europe: An Actor Sui Generis in the International System Wolfgang Wessels	161
12. European Defense Integration: Prospects and Problems Joanne Wright	174
13. The West Europeans and NATO Magnus Clarke	183
14. European Security in the Aftermath of the INF Treaty Joseph Camilleri	195
Bibliography	219
Notes on Contributors	225
Index	227