Landscapes of Relations and Belonging

Body, Place and Politics in Wogeo, Papua New Guinea

Astrid Anderson
Contents

List of illustrations vii
Acknowledgements viii
Note on Orthography x

Introduction
Place, Landscape and Gendered Bodies 9
Wogeo and Ian Hogbin 15
Wogeo Island 16
The People of Dab 21
The Chapters 26

Part I: Wogeo Island – Place and People
Prelude 31

Chapter 1: Life in Wogeo 35
Dab Village 40
Main Kinship Categories 42
Daily Rhythms 44
Food, Sharing and Exchange 46
Mission, Colonial Powers and Change 49
Language 52

Chapter 2: The Legacy of Ian Hogbin and the Wogeo Culture Heroes 55
The Origins of Kastom 57
Onka and Mafogo 62

Part II: Bodies, Taboos and Sociality
Prelude 75

Chapter 3: Differentiation and Connectedness: Blood, Flutes and Gender 79
Polluted Blood 79
First Menstruation 82
Childbirth 84
Male Cleansing and the Male Cult 85
Gendered Differentiation 91

Chapter 4: Desired and Undesired Connections 97
Pollution and Diseases of the Place 99
Germs, Smell and Language 101
Chapter 5: Death and Disconnections
  Manvara
  The Death of Ulbaia
  Decomposing the Composite Person
  The Last Work for Ulbaia
  Cutting the Skin

Part III: Landscape, Knowledge and Leadership
  Prelude

Chapter 6: Sides, Pathways and Directions
  Chasing the Stars
  The Island as a Canoe
  Landscape of Paths and Places
  Village Landscapes

Chapter 7: Knowledge and Leadership
  Forms of Leadership
  Knowledge and Leadership
  ‘Everything goes in fours’
  Koakoale and Matrilineages
  Koakoale and Place
  Koakoale and Exchange
  Changing Expressions of Knowledge
  Knowledge, Truth and the Vatican Council

Part IV: Politics of Belonging
  Prelude

Chapter 8: Kinship, Place and Belonging
  ‘The dead weight of old kinship categories’
  The ‘Problem’ of Groups
  Shared Places
  Shared Blood
  Houses and Matrilineages
  Adoption

Chapter 9: Dab Village – its Land, Houses and People
  The Construction of Singero
  Singero’s Traditional Design
  Inheritance of Rights
  Flexibility and Perceived Permanence in the Dab Landscape
  Land Rights, Consensus and Corrugated Iron

Conclusion
  Experience and Representation
  Relations in the Landscape
  Postlude

References
Glossary
Index