INTRODUCTION
TO SPEECH
COMMUNICATION

WILLIAM J. SEILER
The University of Nebraska
CONTENTS

PART I

FOUNDATIONS OF HUMAN COMMUNICATION

CHAPTER 1

HUMAN COMMUNICATION

- Speech Communication
- The Importance of Effective Communication
- Communication Shapes History • Communication Shapes Careers
- What Is Communication
- The Essential Components of Communication
  - Source • Message • Channel • Receiver • Feedback
  - Environment • Noise
- Principles of Communication
  - Communication Is a Process • Communication Is a System
  - Communication Is Both Interactional and Transactional • Communication Can Be Intentional or Unintentional
- Misconceptions About Communication
  - Communication Can Solve All of Our Problems • The More We Communicate, the Better
  - Communication Can Break Down • Meanings Are in Words • Communication Is a Natural Ability

CHAPTER 2

PERCEPTION AND SELF IN HUMAN COMMUNICATION

- Perception and Its Relationship to Communication
- The Perception Process • Perceptual Differences • Altering Perception
- Self-Concept and Its Relationship to Communication
- Self-Concept as a Process • The Development of Self-Concept • The Hierarchy of Self-Concept
- Self-Fulfilling Prophecy • Improving Our Self-Concept
CHAPTER 3

VERBAL COMMUNICATION

The Importance of Language
The Power of Language • Language and Thought
The Elements of Language
Sounds • Words • Grammar • Meaning
Language-Based Barriers to Communication
Bypassing • Inference Confusion • Indiscrimination • Polarization
How To Use Language More Effectively
Accuracy • Vividness • Appropriateness

CHAPTER 4

NONVERBAL COMMUNICATION

Forms of Nonverbal Communication
Body Motions and Facial Expressions • Physical Characteristics • Touch
Space and Distance • Time • Paralanguage • Artifacts • Environment
The Functions of Nonverbal Communication
Complementing Behavior • Repeating Behavior • Regulating Behavior
Accenting Behavior • Substituting Behavior • Deceiving Behavior
The Characteristics of Nonverbal Communication
We Are Always Communicating • Meaning Depends on Context
Nonverbal Communication Is More Believable • The Primary Way of Expressing Feelings and Attitudes
Interpreting Nonverbal Communication
Nonverbal Cues Have Multiple Meanings • Nonverbal Cues are Interdependent
Improving Your Interpretation of Nonverbal Communication
Improving Your Nonverbal Communication

CHAPTER 5

LISTENING

The Importance of Effective Listening
The Elements Of Listening
Selecting • Attending • Understanding • Remembering
The Functions Of Listening
Listening for Information • Evaluative Listening • Empathic Listening
Listening for Enjoyment
Barriers to Effective Listening 108
Indifference to the Topic or Speaker • Criticizing the Speaker Instead of the Message • Concentrating on Details, Not Main Ideas • Avoiding Difficult Listening Situations • Tolerating or Failing to Adjust to Distractions • Faking Attention

Analyzing and Evaluating Messages 111
Assessing the Motivation Behind a Message • Judging Conclusions from a Message

Suggestions for Improved Listening 113
Be Prepared to Listen • Behave Like a Good Listener

PART II
PUBLIC COMMUNICATION 121

CHAPTER 6
GETTING STARTED:
TOPIC SELECTION AND AUDIENCE ANALYSIS 122

The Importance of Effective Speechmaking 123
Selecting a Speech Topic 124
The Subject Area • Assessing the Appropriateness of a Topic • Narrowing and Focusing Your Topic

Determining the General and Specific Purposes of Your Speech 130
Speeches that Inform • Speeches that Persuade • Speeches that Entertain • General Versus Specific Purposes • Formulating a Specific Purpose Statement

Analyzing Your Audience 133
Understanding the Audience's Point of View • Captive Versus Voluntary Participants • Key Audience Information • Analyzing Your Results and Adapting Them to Your Audience

CHAPTER 7
GATHERING AND USING INFORMATION 149

Gathering Information 150
Using Yourself as a Source of Information • The Interview as a Source of Information • The Library as a Source of Information • Suggestions for Doing Research

Using Your Research 160
Citing Testimony to Support and Clarify • Presenting Examples to Clarify • Using Definitions to Explain • Supplying Statistics to Summarize
CHAPTER 8

ORGANIZING AND OUTLINING 182

Organizing Your Speech 184
The Body • The Introduction • The Conclusion
Outlining Your Speech 199
The Three Stages of Outlining

CHAPTER 9

DELIVERING YOUR SPEECH 210

The Qualities of Effective Speakers 211
Ethics • Knowledge • Preparation • Self-Confidence
Managing the Anxiety of Speechmaking 214
Communication Apprehension • The Symptoms of Speech Anxiety •
Causes of Speech Anxiety • Treating Speech Anxiety
Methods of Delivery 219
Impromptu Delivery • Memorized Delivery • Manuscript Delivery •
Extemporaneous Delivery
Vocal and Physical Aspects of Delivery 222
Vocal Aspects • Physical Aspects
Using Visual Aids 226
The Advantages of Visual Aids • Kinds of Visual Aids • Choosing and
Using Visual Aids
Polishing Your Delivery 236

CHAPTER 10

INFORMATIVE SPEAKING 241

Information and Power 243
The Goal of Informative Speaking 244
Topics for Informative Speeches 245
Objects • Processes • Events • Concepts
Preparing and Developing an Informative Speech 248
Gaining Audience Attention • Increasing Understanding
Hints for Effective Informative Speaking 255
Avoid Assumptions • Personalize the Information
A Sample Informative Speech With Commentary 257
CHAPTER 11

THE PERSUASIVE SPEECH 264

The Nature and Goal of Persuasive Speaking 265
Action Goals
Topics for Persuasive Speeches 267
Questions of Fact, Value, and Policy
Establishing Credibility 272
Competence • Character
Preparing and Developing the Persuasive Speech 274
Researching Your Topic • Organizing Your Topic • Supporting Your Topic
Hints for Effective Persuasive Speaking 281
A Sample Persuasive Speech With Commentary 281

PART III

INTERPERSONAL COMMUNICATION 289

CHAPTER 12

INTERPERSONAL COMMUNICATION 290

Intrapersonal Communication 291
Interpersonal Communication 292
Needs in Relationships 292
The Hierarchy of Individual Needs • The Theory of Interpersonal Needs
Reasons for Developing Relationships 296
Avoidance or Lessening of Loneliness • Stimulation • Learning About Ourselves • Sharing
The Development of Relationships 298
Coming Together • Bonding • Coming Apart
Self-Disclosure in Relationships 304
The Process of Self-Disclosure • Guidelines for Self-Disclosure
Communicating in Relationships 308
Invite More Communication • Active Listening

CHAPTER 13

SMALL GROUP COMMUNICATION 315

The Purposes of Small Group Communication 316
Personal Purposes • Task-Related Purposes
Formats for Small Group Presentations 319
Panel • Symposium • Forum
What Is a Group? 320

The Group as a System 321
   Input • Throughput • Output • Feedback

The Characteristics of Small Groups 323
   A Common Goal • Social Facilitation • Group Personality •
   Cohesiveness • Commitment • Group Size • Norms •
   Interdependence

CHAPTER 14

PARTICIPATING IN SMALL GROUPS 333

Leadership 334
   Characteristics of Leaders • Leadership Styles • The Effects of Leadership
   Styles • Leading a Group • Conducting a Meeting

Member Participation 339
   Enhancing Group Participation • Constructive Contributions •
   Counterproductive Contributions

Problem Solving and Decision Making 343
   Determining the Problem • Procedures for Discussing the Problem

Evaluating Small Group Performance 347

CHAPTER 15

INTERVIEWING 352

The Information Interview 353
   Types of Questions • Phrasing Questions • Methods of Recording
   Interviews

The Employment Interview 360
   Qualities Employers Seek • Preparing for an Interview • The Interview •
   Factors Leading to Rejection

GLOSSARY 374

INDEX 383