

A COMPARATIVE EVOLUTION OF BUSINESS PARTNERSHIPS

The Islamic World and Europe, with Specific Reference to the Ottoman Archives

BY

MURAT ÇİZAKÇA

E.J. BRILL
LEIDEN · NEW YORK · KÖLN
1996

CONTENTS

Preface and Acknowledgements	XI
List of Tables	XIII
Notes on Transliteration and Pronunciation	XIV
Glossary	XV
Introduction	XXI
Map	XXV

PART ONE

ORIGINS AND THE WESTERN EVOLUTION

Chapter One: Private Finance in an Islamic Context	3
The mudaraba	4
The mufawada partnership	6
The inan partnership (Musharaka)	7
The vūcuh (credit partnership)	8
Chapter Two: The Mudaraba (Commenda) in Europe: The Western Evolution	10
Origins of the commenda	10
Structural characteristics of commenda	12
Liability	13
Diffusion of commenda in Europe and Asia	15
The societas	22
The compagnia	23
The Medici conglomerate	24
The carati	27
Partnerships in England and the Netherlands	32
Joint-stock companies in the Netherlands	44
Venture capital (v.c.) in the United States	49
Return of the European business partnerships to the Middle East: the full circle	55
Conclusion to Part One	58

PART TWO

EVOLUTION OF BUSINESS PARTNERSHIPS IN THE ISLAMIC WORLD; FINANCING THE ENTREPRENEUR DURING THE OTTOMAN CENTURIES

Chapter Three: Ottoman Business Partnerships	65
Introduction	65
The Ottoman mudaraba partnership	66
The Ottoman mufawada partnership	77
The Ottoman inan partnership	79
The Ottoman vūcuh	82
Conclusion	84
Chapter Four: Financing Shipping and Shipbuilding in Ottoman Economy	86
Introduction	86
Ottoman shipping partnerships	88
a. The legal background	88
b. The cases	89
c. Merchants' account books	94
d. The kapan	117
Shipbuilding by the private sector	123
Conclusion	126
Appendix: The Cash Waqfs	131
Chapter Five: Financing the State (Private Finance in Tax-Farming)	135
Introduction	135
Historical Origins of Tax-Farming in the Islamic World, an Institutional Framework	136
a. Medieval Egypt (daman and qabala)	136
b. Mughal India (the ijara system)	138
Tax-farming in the Ottoman Economy and Its Evolution—The iltizam :	140
a. Basic characteristics of the iltizam system	140
b. Competitiveness and risk averseness	141
c. Partnerships in the iltizam system	146
d. Size of the partnerships	154
The Malikane System (in collaboration with Mehmet Genç)	159
a. Birth of the malikane	160
i. Risk averseness	161
ii. Property rights	161
iii. Security of the tenure	161

iv. Retirement benefits	162
b. Achievements of the malikane	163
c. Functioning of the system	165
d. Financing the malikane	169
e. The has-malikane	177
The Esham System (in collaboration with Mehmet Genç).....	179
a. Introduction	179
b. The decline of the malikane system	184
c. The evolution of the esham system	186
d. Ottoman treasury bonds and the Emergence of Fiat Money	187
Conclusion	190
 Chapter Six: Last Links In The Islamic Evolution:
Revenue Participation Scheme and Islamic Banks	193
Introduction	193
Revenue Participation Scheme (GOS) and the rebirth of Ottoman esham in the Turkish Republic.	193
Islamic banks	195
Structure of Islamic banks	196
Islamic banks in practice	198
Structural similarities between Islamic banks and ven- ture capital	201
Conclusion	204
 Bibliography	 211
 Index	 223