

Andrew J. Nathan

CHINA'S CRISIS

Dilemmas of Reform and
Prospects for Democracy

Columbia University Press
NEW YORK

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
1. Setting the Scene: Confessions of a China Specialist	1
Part I. Factionalism and the Limits of Reform	21
2. A Factionalism Model for CCP Politics	23
3. Political Risk in China	38
Part II. American Views of China	69
4. Americans Look at China: The New Optimism and Some Historical Perspectives	71
5. U.S. Human Rights Policy Toward China: Two Essays	82
Part III. The Crisis of Reform	95
6. Reform at the Crossroad: Chinese Politics in 1988	97
7. Paradoxes of Reform and Pressures for Change	116
Part IV. Political Change in Taiwan	127
8. Democratizing Transition in Taiwan (with Yangsun Chou)	129
9. The Effect of Taiwan's Political Reform on Taiwan- Mainland Relations	153
Part V. Prospects for Chinese Democracy	169
10. Chinese Democracy in 1989	171
11. Conclusion: Prospects for Chinese Democracy	193
Index	233