

THE CHILEAN
POLITICAL PROCESS

Manuel Antonio Garretón

translated by Sharon Kellum in collaboration with
Gilbert W. Merkx

Boston
UNWIN HYMAN
London Sydney Wellington

Contents

Acknowledgments	page xi
Introduction	xiv
Part I: The Political System in Chile until 1973
1. The Chilean Political System: An Overview	3
2. A People's Project, 1970–1973: Its Meaning and Defeat	18
Part II: Military Regimes and Authoritarian Capitalism in the Southern Cone
3. The Historical Project of the New Military Regimes in Latin America	45
4. National Security Ideology and Military Regimes	68
5. The Origins, Evolution, and Failure of Military Dictatorships	85
Part III: The Chilean Military Regime and the Prospects for Democracy
6. The Emergence of a Historical Project	117
7. The Processes of Institutionalization	132
8. The Crisis of the Foundational Dimension	149
9. Political Opposition to the Military Regime	164
10. Prospects for Democracy and Reconstructing the Political System	185
Postscript: The 1988 Plebiscite and the Transition to Democracy	204
Index	213