

The Development of God in the Old Testament

Three Case Studies in Biblical Theology

MARKUS WITTE

Translated by Stephen Germany

Winona Lake, Indiana
EISENBRAUNS
2017

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgments.	viii
Introduction	1
Chapter 1. From El Shaddai to Pantokrator: Reflections on the History of Israelite and Jewish Religion and on Biblical Theology through the Lens of a Divine Name	7
1. El Shaddai (אל שדי) 7
2. Pantokrator 19
3. Conclusion 26
Chapter 2. From Divine Justice to Human Justice	28
1. Introduction 28
2. The Case of Cain 30
3. David and the King as Guarantor of Justice 35
4. Job and the Crisis of Justice 43
5. The Torah of Habakkuk 46
6. Pseudo-Solomon's Promotion of Justice 48
7. Conclusion 49
Chapter 3. From Yahweh to the Messiah: Images of God in the Old Testament as Background for the Discourse on Jesus Christ in the New Testament . .	53
1. Introduction 53
2. Jesus Christ as the Subject of Old Testament Exegesis 54
3. Jesus Christ as Reflected in the Names of God in the Old Testament 62
4. Jesus Christ as Reflected in the Experience of God in the Old Testament 71
5. Conclusion 101

Bibliography	103
Index of Authors	125
Index of Scripture	128
Old Testament	128
New Testament	135
Deuterocanonical Works	136
Pseudepigrapha	138
Index of Subjects, Names, Words, and Other Ancient Sources	139
Subjects and Names	139
Akkadian Words	141
Aramaic Words	141
Egyptian Words	141
Greek Words	141
Hebrew Words	141
Jewish Texts outside the Bible and Rabbinic Texts	142
Greek Authors	142
Aramaic, Phoenician, Ugaritic, and Egyptian Texts	142