

Apocalyptic in History and Tradition

edited by

Christopher Rowland
and John Barton

Journal for the Study of the Pseudepigrapha
Supplement Series 43

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Abbreviations	x
List of Contributors	xiii
In Memoriam Carol Smith	xv
CHRISTOPHER ROWLAND AND JOHN BARTON
Introduction	1
PAUL S. FIDDES
Millennium and Utopia: Images of a Fuller Presence	7
JOHN J. COLLINS
Temporality and Politics in Jewish Apocalyptic Literature	26
BOB BECKING
Expectations about the End of Time in the Hebrew Bible: Do They Exist?	44
DAVID J. BRYAN
Exile and Return from Jerusalem	60
DAVID VALETA
The Satirical Nature of the Book of Daniel	81
YVONNE SHERWOOD
'Not with a bang but a whimper': Shrunken Eschatologies of the Twentieth Century—and the Bible	94
CRISPIN H.T. FLETCHER-LOUIS
Jesus, the Temple and the Dissolution of Heaven and Earth	117

PAULO AUGUSTO DE SOUZA NOGUEIRA Visionary Elements in the Transfiguration Narrative	142
CHRISTOPHER ROWLAND The Apocalypse in History: The Place of the Book of Revelation in Christian Theology and Life	151
HENRY MAYR-HARTING Apocalyptic Book Illustration in the Early Middle Ages	172
BRYAN WILSON Millennialism and Sect Formation in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries	212
JOHN JARICK The Fall of the House (of Cards) of Ussher: Why the World as We Know It Did Not End at Sunset on 22 October 1997	233
DAVID J. CHALCRAFT Max Weber on the Watchtower: On the Prophetic Use of Shakespeare's Sonnet 102 in 'Politics as a Vocation'	253
CHRISTOPHER GARBOWSKI Tolkien's Eschatology of Hope: From Ragnarok to Joyous Subcreation	271
LARRY J. KREITZER 'The Horror! The Whore!': The Abomination of Desolation and Conrad's Heart of Darkness	284
Index of References	319
Index of Authors	326