

AFRICA

What Can be Done?

Ben Turok

Institute for African Alternatives
Zed Books Ltd.
London and New Jersey

Contents

List of Abbreviations	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
PART I: THE EARLY EXPECTATIONS OF INDEPENDENCE	5
1. The Challenge of Neocolonialism	7
Victory or handover?	8
After independence, what?	11
Economic stagnation	13
Social turbulence	16
International straitjacket	20
The crisis of imperialism	26
Alternative alliances	27
The totality of contradictions	30
2. Earlier Hopes and Expectations	32
Socialist euphoria	33
The international communist movement	36
African Marxists under independence	37
Marxists in the remaining liberation movements	41
The purpose of Marxist analysis	43
3. Post-Independence Society	46
Clientilism	50
Compradorism	53
State capitalism	57
People's democracies	63
PART 2: THE STRUCTURES OF NEOCOLONIALISM	65
4. Class structures	67
The bureaucracy or state bourgeoisie	69
The politicians	73
The civil servants	73

The state managers	74
The military	75
The bourgeoisie proper	76
The petit-bourgeoisie	82
The working class	85
The peasantry	92
5. The Role of the State	94
Serving whose interests? – the comprador thesis	96
The state's internal beneficiaries	97
Mistaken Soviet parallels	101
The state in Zambia	103
Implications for socialist strategy	108
PART 3: WHAT CAN BE DONE?	113
6. The Marxist Opposition	115
The bearers of Marxist ideology	117
Marxism and the national liberation movements	121
Marxist states in Africa	123
Marxists against neo-colonial regimes	125
Radical students	127
Radical organisations between the Rawlings coups; JFM and NDM	130
The second Rawlings regime	131
7. Strategic Considerations for Socialism	137
Guinea-Bissau: struggle for liberation	139
Zaire: towards a revolution that is national and social	141
Tanzania: neocolonialism and economic independence	144
Kenya: for true independence	146
Lenin's view	149
Cameroun: the internal enemy	150
Sudan: the immediate programme – democracy or socialism?	151
South Africa: the vanguard party and the broad front	153
8. What Can Be Done	159
Present tasks	162
The operating context	168
Pan-Africanism and Internationalism	171
Bibliography	173
Index	179