Religious Studies and Rabbinics
A Conversation

Edited by Elizabeth Shanks Alexander
and Beth A. Berkowitz
Contents

Notes on contributors vii
Preface ix
Acknowledgments xii
About the book xiv
List of abbreviations xvi

Introduction 1
ELIZABETH SHANKS ALEXANDER

PART I
The history of "religion" 23

1 Religious Studies, past and present 25
RANDALL STYERS

2 Different religions? Big and little religion in Rabbinics and Religious Studies 39
BETH A. BERKOWITZ

3 J.Z. Smith on the study of religion, humanities, and human nature 54
KURTIS R. SCHAEFFER

PART II
Managing commitments 67

4 "A cheerful unease": theology and Religious Studies 69
PAUL DAFYDD JONES

5 Reading midrash as theological practice 82
DEBORAH BARER
Contents

6 Alexandria between Athens and Jerusalem: Religious Studies as a humanistic discipline
CHARLES MATHEWES

PART III
Comparative rubrics and rabbinic data

7 The legal language of everyday life in rabbinic religion
CHAYA HALBERSTAM

8 Time, gender, and ritual in rabbinic sources
SARIT KATTAN GRIEBETZ

9 Ritual failure, ritual success, and what makes ritual meaningful in the Mishnah
NAFTALI S. COHN

PART IV
Critical reading in Religious Studies

10 Thou shalt not cook a bird in its mother’s milk?
Theorizing the evolution of a rabbinic regulation
JORDAN D. ROSENBLUM

11 Learning how to read: how Rabbinics aids in the study of contemporary Christian scripture-reading practices
KELLY WEST FIGUEROA-RAY

12 From the general to the specific: a genealogy of “acts of reciprocal kindness” (gemilut hasadim) in rabbinic literature
GREGG E. GARDNER

Index