

POLAND'S JOURNALISTS PROFESSIONALISM AND POLITICS

JANE LEFTWICH CURRY

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge

New York Port Chester Melbourne Sydney

Contents

Acknowledgments

1	Journalists as professionals in theory and reality	page 1
	The place of Marxism–Leninism and the mass media	4
	Traditional approaches to groups and policy making: a critique	8
	The professional model	15
	Polish journalists: the virtues of atypicality	23
2	The postwar roots of the profession	35
	First lessons	37
	Stalinism: 1949–1953	39
	The ferment begins: 1953–1955	44
	Radicalization process: from professional to public concerns: 1955–1956	49
	Denouement: 1957–1960	58
	The Gomułka years	62
	The Gierek years	64
	Solidarity and martial law	67
	Journalism history and the Polish media system	69
3	Living and learning journalism	73
	Training for journalism	76
	Lessons of working in journalism	80
	The bureaucratic setting and its lessons	96
	The journalism process	111
4	Professional associations and professional politics	117
	The formal professional organization: the SDP and its successor	121
	Professional leadership	142

Informal interaction	149
The influence of political factors and forces on the SDP	151
Political-professional association relations in a time of crisis	153
Association realities and political science theories	159
5 Journalists as political actors	161
Journalists' professional goals	161
Combining politics and professionalism	163
"Leadership" positions	165
Private contacts	174
Communiques and publications	179
Journalists and their publics	181
Journalists and alternate elites	182
Public communications channels	186
Can political action be professional? The journalists' conundrum	201
6 Solidarity and beyond: the critical test of professionals and professionalism	205
Professional values for all times	207
Journalists and the challenges of the eighties	212
The crosscurrents of the Solidarity era	221
Journalists in a new professional world	232
The state of war	236
Conclusion	240
Appendix Research methodology: unwritten answers	243
Notes	247
Select bibliography	289
Index	295