

Transition in the Baltic States

Micro-Level Studies

Edited by

Neil Hood

Robert Kilis

and

Jan-Erik Vahlne

Contents

List of Figures	x
List of Tables	xi
Preface and Acknowledgements	xiii
List of Contributors	xiv
1 Introduction	1
Neil Hood, Robert Kilis and Jan-Erik Vahlne
Agenda	1
Region	3
Issues	5
The Organisation of the book	10
SECTION ONE: VALUES, ATTITUDES AND PERSPECTIVES
2 The Baltic Post-Socialist Enterprises and the Development of Organisational Capabilities	19
Slavo Radosevic
Introduction	19
From the Soviet to Post-Socialist Enterprise	19
The Development of Organisational Capabilities of Post-Socialist Latecomers: A Descriptive Model	21
The Baltic Post-Socialist Latecomer Enterprises: Examples of (Non-) Adjustment	26
Patterns of Industrial Adjustment in Post-Socialist Baltic States: Discussion	35
Conclusions	42
3 Organisation and Management Transition in Estonia: A Cultural Approach	46
Kari Liuhto
Introduction	47
Cultural Change in Organisations: A Theoretical Perspective	47
The Transition of Estonian Entrepreneurship in the Twentieth Century: A Developmental Perspective	49

The Organisational and Managerial Transition in Estonia	54
Conclusions	56
4 Collectivism and Individualism in Estonia: An Exploratory Study of Societal Change and Organisational Orientation	62
Maaja Vadi and Anthony F. Buono
Introduction	62
The Estonian Context	62
The Influence of Societal Culture	63
Individualism and Collectivism	64
The Study and Methodology	66
Findings	69
Discussion: Implications of Collectivistic and Individualistic Orientations	71
5 Leftism, Achievement, Orientation and Basic Dimensions of the Socio-economic and Political Attitudes in Baltic Countries versus Other Central and East European Countries	80
Jan Jerschina and Jaroslaw Górnjak
Introduction	80
Methodology	84
Presentation of Results	90
Some Remarks on the Dynamics of the Situation in Central and Eastern Europe: Trends 1994–1995	99
Conclusions	105
6 Micro-Economic Differences between or within Baltic Nationalities	109
Richard Rose
Introduction	109
Thinking about Units of Analysis	110
Economic Differences within and between Nationalities	112
Economic Activities	116
Doing Badly or Doing Well?	120
Within-Nation Differences create Between- Nation Similarities	124

SECTION TWO: PROCESS AND POLICY

7	Privatisation and Employee Ownership: The Development in the Baltic Countries	131
	Niels Mygind
	Introduction	131
	Background Conditions	131
	Political Developments and Employee Ownership	134
	The Legislation and Implementation of Privatisation	137
	Conclusions	144
8	Growth in the Hidden Economy: The Case of Estonia	148
	Garri Raagmaa
	Introduction	148
	Terminology	148
	Changes in the Role of the Shadow Economy	151
	The Peculiarities of Societies in Transition	156
	The Impact of Transition Processes on the Growth of the Hidden Economy: Macro-Economic Shifts	168
	Stages in the Development of the Hidden Economy	172
	Conclusions and Policy Recommendations	174
9	Accounting and Audit in Latvia	180
	Igors Ludborzs
	General Situation	180
	Comparison of Accounting and Audit Development with the Other Baltic States	186
	Conclusions: Progress and Problems in Accounting	187
10	Latvia's Emerging Capital Markets	189
	Gregory Jedrzejczak and Alex Fleming
	Summary	189
	Introduction	190
	Driving Forces and Impediments	191
	Main Policy Options	197
	Conclusions: Emerging Capital Markets as part of the Transition Process	207
11	Enterprise Exit in Lithuania	210
	Gediminas Rainys
	Introduction	210

Informal Exit	211
Formal Exit	212
Case Studies	216
The Role of Commercial Banks	219
Conclusions: The Relationship Between Formal and Informal Exit	220

SECTION THREE: SECTORAL EXAMPLES

12 Problems Facing the Development of Small and Medium-Sized Manufacturing Firms in the Baltic States	227
David Smallbone, Urve Venesaar, Laimonis Rumpis and Danute Budreikate
Introduction	227
Characteristics of SME Development in the Baltic States	230
Key Features of the External Environment affecting the Nature and Pace of the SME Development in the Baltic States	234
Key Policy Issues Affecting the Development of the SME Sector	241
Conclusions	245
13 The Investment Behaviour of Individual Private Farmers in Latvia	248
Hans-Joachim Zilcken
Introduction	248
Research Methodology	251
Findings	253
Conclusions and Implications	256

SECTION FOUR: CONCEPTUAL CONSIDERATIONS

14 Values of the Latvian Road to the Market	261
Gundar J. King
An Introductory Analogy	261
Values and Economic Performance	262
Values for the Future	264
Values for Management	265
Critically Important Values and Skills	267
The Role of Business Schools	268
Conclusions	270

15	The Intangibles of Transition: Attitudinal Obstacles to Change	272
	George Schöpflin
	Introduction	272
	The Nature of Post-Communism	272
	Building New Systems	273
	Conclusions	279
16	Conclusions	281
	Neil Hood, Robert Kilis and Jan-Erik Vahlne
	Introduction	281
	Selected Themes	282
	Epilogue	287
	Index	289