

Jon P. Kirby

God, Shrines, and Problem-solving among the Anufo of Northern Ghana

1986

Dietrich Reimer Verlag · Berlin

Table of Contents

Preface	11
Acknowledgements	13
Notes on the Anufɔ Orthography	15
Introduction	17
I. An Introduction to the Anufɔ of Ghana	21
1. Nalori	21
2. History	33
3. Social structure of the Nalori Anufɔ today	44
4. Anufɔ religion and the use of shrines in problem-solving	49
II. The Anufɔ Spiritual Universe	53
1. Spiritual agents	53
2. Shrines	66
3. Shrine locations	74
4. Custodians and congregations	75
III. Religion as Problem-solving	81
1. The concept of life-predicament	81
2. The concept of life-course	82
3. Value systems	82
4. Value systems in conflict	85
5. Balancing the life-predicament	86
6. The Anufɔ experience of misfortune	88
7. Balancing the life-predicament through sacrifice	93
IV. Oracles and Divination	105
A. Types of Divination	105
1. Oracles and divination defined	106
2. Varieties and tasks of oracles	106
3. Varieties and tasks of divination	111
B. Cowrie-Divination Analysis	127
1. Symbols of cowrie-divination	127
2. Categories of cowrie-divination	130
3. Interpretation of cowrie-divination	133
4. Role of the diviner	142

5. Explanations of fault	149
6. Divination as the gateway to religious practice	150
V. Case Study of a Terminal Illness	155
1. Atifala's problem	155
2. Working toward a solution from the present	162
3. The spirit guardian shrine as last resort	170
4. Ultimate appeal to God	174
5. Conclusion	176
VI. nyeme, the Guardian of Fate	179
A. Symbols	179
1. Introduction to nyeme (shrine to the High God)	179
2. Occasions for nyeme rituals	180
3. Dominant symbols of the nyeme shrine	180
B. Maturity and Fate	183
1. Maturation, personhood, and fertility	183
2. Personhood	186
3. Fertility	193
4. nyeme the guide to maturity	199
C. Structural and Functional Analysis	200
1. How a bad fate is changed: the Nyeme nkaali myth	200
2. New possibility to obtain a good fate	201
3. Obstructions to a good fate	204
4. Renegotiating fate	208
5. Conclusion	213
VII. Nyeme, the Ambiguous High God and Spirit Guardian	219
1. Absence of the High God cult	220
2. The influence of Islam	222
3. Comparison and contrast between the High God and the "spirit guardian"	223
4. Points of ambiguous identity	224
5. God's distance	225
6. Function of ambiguity	233
VIII. Concluding Reflections	239
1. Problem-solving dynamic of Anufo religion	239
2. Religious pluralism	239
3. Achieving a good fate	242
4. Individual versus society	244

5. Appealing to the unenshrined God as the ultimate ploy in problem-solving	245
6. God and society	246
Appendices	249
1. New dates for the chiefs of Mango	249
2. Nalori villages by dominant Anufɔ clan membership	250
3. The Anufɔ lunar calendar	253
4. A comparison of Anufɔ, Nupe, Yoruba, and Igala sanddivination symbols	254
5. Visual vocabulary of Anufɔ divination	257
6. Notes from an attitudinal survey	264
7. A text from the fonio festival	266
8. Renewal of Chempono's nyeme shrine	267
9. Informing the ancestors of the making of Atifala's nyeme shrine	270
10. Text for the "burying of the blood" ceremony	271
11. The Nyeme nkaali myth as told by Kɔbina	273
Glossary	275
Tables, Figures, and Maps	283
Bibliography	305
Index	327
Photos	353