Contemporary Children’s Literature and Film
Engaging with Theory

Edited by Kerry Mallan
and Clare Bradford
Contents

List of Figures
vi

Notes on Contributors
vii

Introduction: Bringing Back Theory
1
Kerry Mallan and Clare Bradford

1  Schemas and Scripts: Cognitive Instruments and the Representation of Cultural Diversity in Children’s Literature
12
John Stephens

2  Journeying Subjects: Spatiality and Identity in Children’s Texts
36
Clare Bradford and Raffaella Baccolini

3  Local and Global: Cultural Globalization, Consumerism, and Children’s Fiction
57
Elizabeth Bullen and Kerry Mallan

4  Monstrous Women: Gothic Misogyny in Monster House
79
Maria Takolander

5  Splitting the Difference: Pleasure, Desire, and Intersubjectivity in Children’s Literature and Film
94
Christine Wilkie-Stibbs

6  Children As Ecocitizens: Ecocriticism and Environmental Texts 109
Geraldine Massey and Clare Bradford

7  From ‘Wizard’ to ‘Wicked’: Adaptation Theory and Young Adult Fiction
127
David Buchbinder

8  All That Matters: Technoscience, Critical Theory, and Children’s Fiction
147
Kerry Mallan

Bibliography
168

Index
183