

Apartheid in Transition

'South Africa is a country where you hope on Mondays and despair on Tuesdays.'

Alan Paton, 1985

ANTHONY LEMON

Fellow of Mansfield College and Lecturer at the University of Oxford

Gower

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Preface	ix
Part 1 HISTORICAL BACKGROUND
1 The peopling of South Africa	3
2 Spatial patterns of political and economic development, 1652-1948	17
Part 2 APARTHEID IDEOLOGY AND WHITE VOTERS
3 Apartheid in Theory and Practice	45
4 Afrikaners and Englishmen: Language, Religion and Volk	59
5 White Voting Behaviour	82
Part 3 THE SOUTH AFRICAN SPACE ECONOMY
6 Commercial and Subsistence Agriculture	115
7 Mining and Industrialisation: the Core Areas	137
8 Mining and Industrialisation: the Homeland Periphery	169
Part 4 POPULATION AND URBANISATION
9 Population, Migration and Resettlement	197
10 The Towns: Segregation and Black Urbanisation	213
Part 5 INDIANS AND COLOURED
11 The Indian Community	247
12 The Coloured People	257

13	Political Structures for Indians and Coloureds	267
Part 6 CONSTITUTIONAL ALTERNATIVES
14	Modifying the Status Quo	283
15	Radical Partition	298
16	Federal and Consociational Models	307
Part 7 FORCES OF CHANGE
17	Change from Within	323
18	External Factors	346
Notes		366
References		373
Index		399