

Elections and Democracy
in Central America

Edited by John A. Booth and Mitchell A. Seligson

The University of North Carolina
Press
Chapel Hill and London

Contents

- Introduction
From Uncertainty to Uncertainty:
The Institutionalization of Elections in Central America
by Mitchell A. Seligson 1
- 1 Elections and Democracy in Central America:
A Framework for Analysis
by John A. Booth 7
- 2 Can Democracy Survive the Democrats?:
From Transition to Consolidation in Honduras
by Mark B. Rosenberg 40
- 3 El Salvador:
Recent Elections in Historical Perspective
by José Z. García 60
- 4 The Guatemalan Election of 1985:
Prospects for Democracy
by Robert H. Trudeau 93
- 5 Elections and Transitions:
The Guatemalan and Nicaraguan Cases
by Susanne Jonas 126
- 6 Ordinary Elections in Extraordinary Times:
The Political Economy of Voting in Costa Rica
by Mitchell A. Seligson and Miguel Gómez B. 158

- 7 Democracy and Elections in Central America:
Autumn of the Oligarchs?
by John A. Peeler 185

Contributors 201

Index 203