

Superpower competition and crisis prevention in the Third World

---

edited by

ROY ALLISON and PHIL WILLIAMS

Cambridge University Press

CAMBRIDGE

NEW YORK PORT CHESTER MELBOURNE SYDNEY

Contents

---

Notes on contributors	page vii
Acknowledgements	xi

1 Superpower competition and crisis prevention in the Third World Roy Allison and Phil Williams	I
--	---

Part One: Superpower competition: objectives and instruments

2 Soviet policies in the Third World: objectives, instruments and constraints Robert S. Litwak	29
3 US policies in the Third World: objectives, instruments and constraints Derek Leebaert	49
4 US and Soviet maritime rivalry in the Third World Roger W. Barnett	74
5 Superpower arms transfers to the Third World Joanna Spear and Stuart Croft	89

Part Two: Superpower competition and regional conflict

6 Superpower interests in Third Areas Alexander L. George	107
7 The superpowers and the Middle East Robert O. Freedman	121

Contents

8	The superpowers and the Gulf Shahram Chubin	144
9	The superpowers and Southwest Asia Roy Allison	165
10	The superpowers and Central America and the Caribbean Peter Shearman	187
11	The superpowers and Southern Africa Geoff R. Berridge	206
12	The superpowers and Southeast Asia Paikiasothy Saravanamuttu	227
13	Crisis prevention: patterns and prospects Roy Allison and Phil Williams	246

Appendices

1.	Basic Principles Agreement, 1972	266
2.	Agreement on the Prevention of Nuclear War, 1973	269
3.	Brezhnev's Code of Conduct, 1981	272

	Index	275
--	--------------	-----