
Nightmare Envy and Other Stories

AMERICAN CULTURE AND EUROPEAN RECONSTRUCTION

George Blaustein

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Introduction 1

- I. Nightmare Envy 2
- II. Americanists All! (Americanists All?) 7
- III. Other Stories 9
- IV. American Studies 13
- V. Strange Country 15
- VI. This Book 20

1. Americanists in Unexpected Places 23

- I. Americanism and Amerikanismus 27
- II. Cultural Diplomacy and Its Discontents 36
- III. European Prehistories: Area Studies and Enemy Studies 44
- IV. Before and after Stunde null: American Studies and Occupied Germany 49
- V. Why Is There So Much Political Pathology in the United States? 55
- VI. Idol Studies: Pacific Diplomacy and American Studies in Japan 60
- VII. Conclusion: Redeemer Nation / Remedy Nation 65

2. The Predicament of National Character 69

- I. Culture and Personality; or, to Samoa and Back 72
- II. Total War, American Morale, and the European Frontier 79
- III. The Anthropologist and the American Century 91
- IV. Japanese Antique, Neo-Melanesian Modern, and Our Own Bewildering Country 106
- V. Conclusion: Character and Consolation 120

3. Pictures from an Institution: The Salzburg Seminar and Postwar Mitteleuropa 122

- I. Swiss Cheese, Czech Meat, Danish Sardines, and Butter 125
- II. The Samoanization of America and the Europeanization of Europe 130

III. The Invisible Generation 142

Interlude: A Game at Salzburg 152

IV. Occupations, Preoccupations, and Marshall Plans 158

V. Conclusion: The Other America 168

4. To the Heart of Europe: F. O. Matthiessen's Baedeker 172

I. Three Ahabs; or, American? Renaissance? 175

II. Fellow Traveler 182

III. Reconciliation, Allegory, Elegy: Close Encounters in Postwar Europe 190

IV. What Was American Literature? 203

V. The Secret Life of Books; or, Reading Keats in Buchenwald 211

VI. Traduttore, Traditore: F. O. Matthiessen and the Iron Curtain 217

VII. Conclusion: Complex Fate 224

Epilogue: Americanists after America 226

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS 231

BIBLIOGRAPHY 235

INDEX 265