

BEGIN'S
FOREIGN POLICY,
1977–1983

Israel's Move to the Right

Ilan Peleg

Contributions in Political Science, Number 164

Greenwood Press
New York • Westport, Connecticut • London

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi
1. The Ideologue: Vladimir Jabotinsky	1
His Life	2
His Ideology	4
Arab-Jewish Relations	5
General Outlook on Politics	8
The Revisionist Myth	11
The Impact	12
Notes	13
2. The Architect: Menachem Begin	17
Jabotinsky and Begin	17
Begin's Political Life	21
Irgun Zvai Leumi	22
Israel's War of Independence	27
In Opposition	29
Toward Legitimation	37
The Ballot Box Revolution	43
Notes	47
3. Neo-Revisionism: The Psycho-Ideological Framework	51
Defining Neo-Revisionism	52

Negating the World	57
The Holocaust	63
The Arabs	68
The Dream of Grandeur and Power	72
The Symbols and the Myths	77
Ideology and Reality	83
Is Ideological Change Possible?	86
Notes	90
4. The Diplomacy and Practice of Annexation	95
The Diplomacy of Annexation	97
Begin's Autonomy	106
The Practice of Annexation	109
The Settlement Effort	110
Land Control	115
The Settling Avant Garde: Gush Emunim	117
Economic Domination	122
Law and Administration Under Occupation	124
The Politics of Annexation	131
Notes	134
5. The War in Lebanon	143
Israel in Lebanon	144
The Context of 1982	148
The Goals of the Invasion	151
The Conduct of the War	156
The Propaganda Effort	165
The Results	169
Begin and the War	174
Notes	175
6. The Regional and Global Context	179
The Regional Policy	180
The Destruction of Osiraq	185
The Annexation of the Golan	190
The Global Policy	195
Notes	205
Bibliography	211
Index	221