

A/567104

Evaluating Democratic Innovations

Curing the democratic malaise?

Edited by Brigitte Geissel and Kenneth Newton

Contents

List of figures and tables	vii
List of contributors	viii
Acknowledgements	x
Introduction	1
Curing the democratic malaise with democratic innovations	3
KEN NEWTON
PART I
New and old forms of (direct) democracy	21
1 Implementing popular preferences: is direct democracy the answer?	23
IAN BUDGE
2 Direct democracy: the Swiss experience	39
HANSPETER KRIESI
3 Evaluating new vs old forms of citizen engagement and participation	56
DAVID BEETHAM
PART II
Deliberative democracy	69
4 Deliberative polling: reflections on an ideal made practical	71
JAMES S. FISHKIN
5 Deliberative democracy and mini-publics	90
GRAHAM SMITH

6	Deliberation as an ideal and practice in progressive social movements	112
----------	--	------------

DIETER RUCHT

PART III

	Comparing innovations	135
--	------------------------------	------------

7	Making better citizens?	137
----------	--------------------------------	------------

KEN NEWTON

8	Impacts of democratic innovations in Europe: findings and desiderata	163
----------	---	------------

BRIGITTE GEISSEL

9	When democratic innovations let the people decide: an evaluation of co-governance experiments	184
----------	--	------------

JULIEN TALPIN

	Conclusion	207
--	-------------------	------------

	Democratic innovations: theoretical and empirical challenges of evaluation	209
--	---	------------

BRIGITTE GEISSEL

	Index	215
--	--------------	------------