

Pressure Groups

Duncan Watts

6

Edinburgh University Press

Contents

List of boxes	viii
List of tables	x
Introduction	1
The growth and extent of group activity	2
The proliferation of groups	3
Some matters of definition	6
Movements	7
Political parties and pressure groups	10
Why groups matter	13
Studying pressure groups: theoretical perspectives on group power	14
1 Classifying Pressure Groups	28
Opening observations	29
The sectoral approach	29
Protective and promotional groups	30
Insider and outsider groups	33
Summary	41
2 How Pressure Groups Operate	44
Groups and the access points they employ	45
The traditional outlets used by pressure groups	46
Alternative outlets	57
Summary	62
3 Pressure Group Resources and Success	66
Determinants of group influence across the world	67
The determinants of group effectiveness in Britain	68
Key factors in group influence	70
Group resources	70
Group access to and contacts with decision-makers	78
The political circumstances and climate	81

4	Trends in Group Activity since 1979	86
	The explosion of group activity	87
	Pressure groups under the Conservatives, 1979–97: a changing scene	90
	The 1997 Labour government and group activity	92
	Developments and trends in the British Green Movement since 1979: a case study	98
5	Protest Politics and Direct Action	110
	The meaning of direct action	111
	The growing popularity of direct action	113
	Direct action in practice: some case studies	119
	Recent trends reviewed	126
	Is direct action legitimate in a democracy?	128
6	Pressure Groups and the Devolved Legislatures	135
	General considerations	136
	The growth of group activity in Scotland since devolution	136
	A new style of Scottish government: consensus and consultation	138
	The Scottish Civic Forum	143
	Consultation with the Scottish Executive in practice	144
	The reactions of different categories of Scottish pressure groups	147
	Case studies: the experience of two influential Scottish pressure groups	149
	Criticisms of group activity in Scotland	152
	Assessment of group activity in Scotland	154
	Pressure groups and the Welsh National Assembly	158
	Pressure groups in Northern Ireland	160
7	Lobbying the European Union	166
	Why pressure groups lobby in the European Union	167
	Why the amount of lobbying has increased in recent years	171
	How pressure groups lobby in the European Union and the institutions they target	173

Recent trends in European Union lobbying	177
The findings of a 1993 questionnaire	179
The findings of a 2004 update	180
Conclusion	182
8 The Abolition of Hunting with Dogs: an English, Welsh and Scottish Case Study	187
Introduction	188
The campaign to end hunting with dogs in England and Wales	188
The pressure groups involved on either side of the dispute and the methods employed	192
The campaign to end hunting with dogs in Scotland	198
Conclusion	202
9 Pressure Groups and Democracy	206
Assessing group activity	207
The case against pressure groups: how they undermine democracy	208
The case for pressure groups: how they sustain and enhance democracy	215
Conclusion	218
References	223
Index	230