

Foreign Ownership of Canadian Industry

Third Edition

A. E. Safarian

University of Toronto Press

Contents

	Preface to the Third Edition	xv
	Preface to the Second Edition	xix
Chapter 1	Introduction	1
	Direct investment in the Canadian economy	6
	The controversy about the international firm	17
Chapter 2	The Statistical Background to the Study	29
	The nature of the interviews and questionnaire	29
	Comparisons of respondent firms with all direct investment companies	38
	Cross-classifications of the variables	44
Chapter 3	The Managers and Their Powers	50
	The senior executives	50
	The board of directors	63
	The management or executive committee	71
	Other methods of maintaining contact with the affiliate	72
	The delegation of powers	74
	The degree of decentralization of responsibility	78
	The degree of supervision	88
Chapter 4	The Exports of Subsidiary Companies	103
	The evidence on private international trade restriction	107
	The export pattern of direct investment companies	119
	The nature of the export sales organization	128
	The effect of affiliation on exports	134
	External pressures on foreign-owned firms	144
Chapter 5	The Imports of Subsidiary Companies	147
	The import pattern of direct investment companies	149
	Policy and organization with regard to purchasing	157
	The effect of affiliation on purchases	161

Chapter 6	The Transfer of Knowledge	168
	The performance of research by the respondent companies	174
	The nature of the Canadian research programs	182
	Access to the parent's knowledge	188
Chapter 7	Comparative Costs of Production	201
	Unit production costs compared with affiliates	201
	Broader issues regarding efficiency	209
Chapter 8	The Pattern of Ownership and Finance	218
	The ownership of voting stock	220
	Sources of funds	234
	Payment of dividends	244
	The United States guidelines program	253
Chapter 9	Nationality of Ownership and Performance of the Firm	257
	Degrees of foreign ownership and performance	258
	The nature of the resident-owned firms in this study	263
	Senior personnel	270
	Marketing and purchasing	273
	Research and development	280
	Ownership and finance	286
	Further tests of differences regarding performance	292
Chapter 10	Concluding Comments	299
Appendices
	A Additional tables by country of control	313
	B Questionnaires and letters to non-resident owned and resident-owned companies	319
Bibliography		332
Index		340