

Strategic Directions for Human Development in Papua New Guinea

Asian Development Bank
Australian Agency for International Development
World Bank

THE WORLD BANK
Washington, D.C.

Contents

Acknowledgments		xi
Abbreviations		xiii
Overview		1
	Health	3
	HIV/AIDS	8
	Education	14
	Common Cross-Cutting Themes	20
	A Final Word	29
Chapter 1	Introduction	31
	Rationale for the Report	31
	Why Human Development?	33
	Why Produce the Report Jointly?	34
	What Questions?	35
	Outline of the Report	35
	Notes	37
Chapter 2	Health in Papua New Guinea: A Situation Assessment and Proposed Strategic Directions	39
	Introduction	39
	Health Outcomes	41

	Health System Infrastructure and Performance	43
	Health Sector Workforce: Size and Deployment	46
	Health Finances and Expenditures	50
	Decentralization, Accountability, and Integrity of Government Systems	55
	Recent Government Response	57
	Recent Donor Response	60
	Where to from Here?	61
	Annex 2A: Health Sector Workforce	66
	Annex 2B: Comparison of Health-Related Revenue Streams to Provinces	70
	Annex 2C: Technical Options and Delivering Health Priorities	72
	Notes	80
Chapter 3	Control of HIV/AIDS in Papua New Guinea: A Situation Assessment and Proposed Strategic Directions	83
	The Current Status of the HIV/AIDS Epidemic in PNG	83
	HIV/AIDS, Sex, and Culture	86
	Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs)	93
	HIV/AIDS and the Economy	94
	The Response of the Government of PNG to HIV/AIDS	96
	The Response of Key Development Partners	101
	The Response of Nongovernmental Organizations and Churches	104
	The Response of the Private Sector	105
	Financing the Response	105
	Major Lessons Learned and Priorities for Further Action	106
	Proposed Strategic Directions for HIV/AIDS	116
	Annex 3A: The Estimated Size of At-Risk Groups in and Near Selected Existing Enclave Developments	119
	Annex 3B: Main PNG HIV/AIDS Control Activities	121
	Annex 3C: Papua New Guinea's Response to the HIV/AIDS Epidemic	123
	Notes	129

Chapter 4	Education in Papua New Guinea: A Situation Assessment and Proposed Strategic Directions	131
	Introduction	131
	National Education Reform (1993)	132
	Expenditure and Financing	133
	The New National Education Plan: Addressing General Education Issues	134
	Governance, Management, and Community Participation	141
	General Education Challenges: The Need to Enhance the NEP 2 Framework	144
	The Financing Challenge	146
	NEP 2 and Achieving Universal Basic Education	150
	Vocational Education and Skills Development	152
	Where to from Here? Proposed Priorities and Strategic Directions	154
	Conclusion	160
	Annex 4A: Principal Responsibilities of the Key Stakeholders in the PNG Education and Skills Development System	160
	Annex 4B: Teacher Workforce	166
	Annex 4C: Geographic, Income, and Gender Inequities in PNG Education	176
	Notes	186
Chapter 5	Common Cross-Cutting Themes	191
	Introduction	191
	The Fragility and Inequity of Current Outcomes	194
	The Need for a “Whole of Government” Approach	196
	Decentralization and Devolution	197
	The Long-Term Decline in the Integrity of Core Government Systems	203
	Restoring the Integrity of Budget Systems and Institutions	205
	Budget Allocations and Their Composition: Less Than Optimal	207
	Conclusion	216
	Annex 5A: Human Development Expenditures 1996–2004	217
	Notes	219

Chapter 6	Next Steps: An Approach to Revised Strategic Directions for Human Development	221
	Introduction	221
	Proposed Sectoral Strategy—Formulation Process by Government	222
	The Importance of the MTDS and MTEF	225
	Implementing the MTEF and the Sectoral Strategy Plans	226
	Creating Fiscal Space and a Compact to Implement Expenditure Reforms	229
	Developing a Financing Plan for Each Sector	230
	Restoring the Integrity of Government Processes	232
	The Role of Development Partners in Support of Government Sectoral Plans	233
	A Sectoral Compact Between the Government and Its Development Partners	234
	Knowledge Gaps	236
	A Final Word	237
References		239
Figures
1	Total Real Recurrent Health Expenditures by Input Category, 1997–2004	4
2	Ministry of Health Workforce by Cadre and Distribution, 2004	6
3	HIV Cases in Adolescents Ages 15–19, 2001–2004	9
2.1	Infant Mortality Rate by Region	42
3.1	HIV Prevalence at Blood Banks Throughout PNG	86
3.2	Increasing Numbers of HIV Cases in 2- to 9-Year Age Group, PNG	87
3.3	Increasing Numbers of HIV Cases in 15- to 19-Year Age Group, PNG	87
3.4	Sexual Coercion and HIV Incidence Among Women Under 25 Years in Rakai, Uganda, 2004	92
3.5	HIV Prevalence Among People Consuming Alcohol and Among Nondrinkers, Carletonville (Mine), South Africa	93
3.6	HIV Infection by Risk Group and WHO Region	112
3.7	Thailand's HIV Estimates With and Without Prevention Interventions, 1985–2010	114

4C.1	Females as Percentage of Basic Education Enrollments and Teachers, 2003	179
4C.2	Basic Education Enrollments as Percentage of Population, 2003	182
4C.3	Internal and Total Provincial per Capita Government Budget Revenue, 2005	183
4C.4	Percentage of Arable Land by Province	184

Tables

2.1	Composition and Growth of the Health Workforce, 1988–2004	47
2.2	Ministry of Health Workforce 2004 by Cadre and Major Health Function	49
2.3	Total Real Health Expenditures: Recurrent and Development, 1996–2004	51
2.4	Total Real Recurrent Health Expenditures by Input Category, 1996–2004	52
2.5	Real Health Development Expenditures by Input Category, 1997–2004	52
2.6	Health Recurrent and Development Expenditures by Health Program, 2004	53
2A.1	Composition and Growth of the PNG Health Workforce, 1998–2004	67
2C.1	MDGs—Technical Options for Interventions by Level of Service	73
2C.2	Options for Private Involvement and Use of Government Subsidies in the Delivery of the Basic Package	76
2C.3	Summary of Options for Private Sector Involvement and Use of Government Subsidies in Delivering the Basic Package	79
3.1	HIV Prevalence at Sentinel Surveillance Sites in PNG	84
3.2	Results of 1998 Eastern Highlands Youth Survey	90
3.3	The Cost Effectiveness of Different Types of HIV Interventions	110
4A.1	Key Responsibilities of Stakeholders in General Education and Skills Development in PNG	162
4B.1	Key Staffing Policies by Level in 2004 (NEP 1)	167
4B.2	Staff Cadre by Level, Selected Years	167
4B.3	Preservice Training Requirements by Level	171
4B.4	Students in Training by Year 2003	171

4B.5	Staff Projections by Level—Selected Years	172
4C.1	Females as Percentage of Total General Education Enrollments by Level and Province, 2003	177
4C.2	Females as Percentage of Total General Education Teachers by Level and Province, 2003	178
4C.3	Grade 10 Examinations for Entry into Senior Secondary	180
4C.4	Grade 11 Students as Proportion of Grade 10, 2003 by Gender and Province	180
4C.5	Distribution of Tertiary Education Scholarship Scheme First-Year Scholarships by Gender and Type of Institution, 2004	181
4C.6	Correlation of School Accessibility by Road with Education and Other Related Variables	185
4C.7	Nongrant revenues (by quintiles of nongrant revenue per student), 2001 (kina per student in the year)	186
5.1	Human Development Expenditures as Share of Total Expenditures and of GDP, 1997–2004	207
5.2	Pacific Island, Low- and Middle-Income, and East Asia Country Expenditures on the Human Development Sectors, 1997–2003	209
5.3	Trends in Human Development Recurrent Expenditures, 1997–2004	210
5.4	Real Human Development Sector Recurrent Expenditure Growth Rates, 1997–2004	211
5.5	Trends in Composition of Education and Health Recurrent Expenditures, 1997–2004	212
5.6	Trends in Real Human Development Recurrent and Development Expenditures, 1997–2004	213
5A.1	Social Sector Expenditures 1997–2004	217
5A.2	Social-Sector Expenditure Shares—Key Aggregates 1997–2004	217
5A.3	Real Social Sector Expenditures 1997–2004	219